Hanoi Returns Yule Gifts For POWs

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam has curiously returned 231 Christmas packages sent by wives and parents to American fighting men held prisoner in Hanoi, the Pentagon announced today.

Daniel Z. Henkin, a member of the Defense Department's Prisoner of War Policy Committee, told newsmen the 231 packages reached North Vietnam through international postal channels and were returned the same way bearing the "curt notation," refused by the postal service of North Vietnam.

"The persistent refusal of the Hanoi government to deliver Christmas parcels is another shocking manifestation of callous disregard for the rights of prisoners of war under the Geneva Convention," Henkin said.

Henkin noted the same thing happened last year.

"If there had been hopes that the Hanoi regime would act with humanitarian consideration for the prisoners of war it holds and for their loved ones at this holiday season, these hopes have been dashed," he said.

In one group of 37 returned packages, Henkin said, two had missing items, including cigarettes, tobacco, gum, and candy.

Asked whether the pilfering was done "by them or by us," Henkin replied: "I don't know."

He said scores of other packages have been sent to North Vietnam by American families of war prisoners and that it appears now they are likely to be returned by Hanoi.

Constantine Gives Greek Junta 'Out'

ATHENS (AP) — Greece's political crisis appeared today to be reaching a turning point after King Constantine said he would return if the junta announced a firm timetable for restoration of democracy.

The 27-year-old monarch's condition appeared easy for the ruling junta to accept. He called for an "acceptable date" for publication of a new constitution, an early date for a national referendum on it and assurances to the Greek people that they will be able to elect a new government.

Constantine did not stipulate what should be in the constitution, what his powers should be or when the election should be held.

The junta, which wants Constantine back to help it hold recognition as the legitimate government, long has promised a return to parliamentary rule. A draft constitution is to be presented to it Saturday—a constitution sharply reducing the king's powers.

The three ruling colonels who came to power in a coup last April 21 resigned Wednesday from the army, clearing the way for them to run as civilians in the elections they have promised. But there was no indication the action would diminish their grip on Greece.

McCarthy Raps LBJ

Says He Wants Equal TV Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy says President Johnson misunderstands opponents of the Vietnam war and compounded confusions over the issue in his television-radio interview this week.

The Minnesota Democrat, who says he'll run as an antiwar candidate in several 1968 presidential primaries, issued a statement Wednesday asking for equal time from the three major networks carrying the presidential interview on Tuesday night.

The networks had no immediate comment.

McCarthy disagreed with what he called Johnson's suggestion he's power hungry or a conspirator working for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., another war policy critic.

"I think the President misunderstands me and greatly misunderstands what is troubling so many decent Americans," McCarthy said. He added the Johnson interview "only compounds the confusion of the administration's objectives in this ever-widening struggle."

Johnson, asked during the interview to comment on speculation that McCarthy is running just to generate support for Kennedy, replied: "I do know of the interest of both of them in the presidency and the ambition of both of them," but said he didn't know just what they would do or whether they would act in concert.

McCarthy denied "I am challenging him for the presidency because of some sort of ambition for power on my part, or, alternatively, that I am engaged in a conspiracy."

Kennedy, on a skiing holiday in Sun Valley, hasn't been available for comment on the Johnson interview.

Mead Names 2 New Officers

NEW YORK (AP)—The Mead Corp. has announced election of two new officers following a meeting of its board of directors.

Burnell R. Roberts was elected controller, succeeding Paul B. Purpus who resigned to assume the position of director of financial accounting.

Robert H. Northwood was elected as vice president and will assume the responsibilities formerly held by Richard A. Gilbert, who resigned to accept the presidency of a newly established company in the field of automation.

Motulist Dies
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Marcus R. McKenzie, 21, Hebron, died Thursday in Grant Hospital of injuries he received earlier in the day when his car went out of control and plunged down an embankment on Ohio 256 near Columbus.

Seven victims were identified. The last body, recovered late Wednesday night, was not.

The most recent victims were Julius O. Bennett of Walnut Cove, N.C.; Gene Mabe, High Point, N.C.; James R. Maxwell, 20, Gallipolis, Ohio; Ronnie G. Moore, 23, Gallipolis; Leo Sanders, 41, Point Pleasant; Donna Jean Casey, 27, Gallipolis and James Hawkins, 33, of Westerville, Ohio.

The White House issued a statement by Johnson, saying Secretary of Transportation Alan Boyd will be in charge of the bridge investigations. He will work with the office of Emergency Planning, the secretary of the Army and the governors of West Virginia and Ohio.

"We are all shocked by this cruel tragedy and loss of lives," said Johnson's statement. "We must assure ourselves that other bridges will be safe for our people."

"All Americans have a vital interest in obtaining answers raised by the collapse of the Ohio River bridge. That bridge, and many others, serve as vital links in our national highway and rail systems."

The Coast Guard has opened the Kanawha River, which flows into the Ohio one-third of a mile south of the collapsed bridge, to try and alleviate the shipping jam created by the disaster.

Officials estimate about 60,000 tons of shipping is tied up. But the Ohio River will remain closed at least until Saturday, and maybe longer. Divers and 100-ton floating derricks are trying to clear a 250-foot channel for boats, through the bridge debris.

However, the Coast Guard said all vessels which will be permitted to travel on the Ohio and Kanawha rivers must have special crews to watch for bodies.

The 39-year-old bridge was built by the American Bridge Co., which was a subsidiary of U.S. Steel at the time. It is now a division of U.S. Steel.

Command has made a combat report of Red efforts to get the high-flying, eight-engine Superfortresses with the Russian surface-to-air missiles. Washington reported earlier Communist efforts in September and October, without giving details, when the Pentagon denied a Russian claim that SAMs had downed one of the American high-altitude bombers.

The Communist forces are known to have long yearned for a crack at the strategic bombers with the high-altitude SAMs—the missiles that downed an American U2 over the Soviet Union—and they have repeatedly attempted to slip the missiles far enough south.

By Wednesday night they had a missile site secretly in operation about 10 miles north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam. When their radar scopes picked up the bombers, the Red gunners unloaded three SAMs.

U.S. officers said the 500-mile-an-hour bombers, flying about six miles up, had about 30 seconds to complete evasive action after their own radar picked up the missiles streaking up at them.

Beyond saying that none of the planes was damaged, the Air Force did not disclose what happened next in the skies over the DMZ. Normally the huge jets would have little chance to escape the darting missiles. But the United States has developed new tactics and electric countermeasures to foil the SAMs in the more than two years since the Russians sent them to North Vietnam.

The missile attack brought a swarm of U.S. fighter-bombers—F105 Thunderchiefs and F4 Phantoms—down on the site from which the rockets were fired. The U.S. Command said the American planes bored in with bombs, rockets and cannon fire and left the site a flaming inferno.

Approve Bill On Anti-Red 'Academy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without public hearings and despite opposition from the State and Defense departments, the House Committee on Un-American Activities has quietly approved a long-pending bill to create a "freedom academy" to teach Americans how to fight communism.

The academy would be run by a "freedom commission," patterned after the Atomic Energy Commission, with $228,500 in executive salaries.

"It will be dedicated to teaching an understanding of non-military warfare as waged by the Communists and of devising new methods of combating such warfare," the committee said of the academy.

"A 'Freedom Academy' smacks too much of a state-planned training program," Culver said in his dissent. "The most effective instrument of a free society remains the strength of our free institutions."

The seven members of the freedom commission would each make $28,500 annually except for the chairman who would be paid $30,000. A general manager would be paid $27,000 a year to organize and operate the academy, bringing the cost to $228,500 in executive salaries.

Heart Patient Washkansky Succumbs to Pneumonia

U.S. Admits Red Figures Just Guesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We just don't know how many Viet Cong there are in South Vietnam," says a veteran military officer who holds a key Pentagon staff post and has seen both field and staff duty in Vietnam.

This officer, who asked that his name not be used, was long involved in the frustrating effort to get a reliable count of enemy strength in South Vietnam.

His view was echoed by other officers who have wrestled with the problem.

They acknowledged that some of the estimates boil down to educated guessing, based on analysis of intelligence gathered from captured documents, interrogation of prisoners and defectors, and reports from Vietnamese and U.S. sources.

Recent estimates have ranged from a low of 223,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong up to 400,000-plus.

Much depends on the terms of reference—whether those doing the estimating count only Communist soldiers or whether they add political cadre as well; whether they count regular and guerrilla soldiers or also include the much more shadowy "secret self-defense forces."

About a month ago, after better than a year of refining methods and studies, the U.S. intelligence community came up with what it regards as the most reasonable estimate of enemy strength.

The U.S. Command in Saigon announced Nov. 24 that it now calculates the Communist "order of battle" to range between 223,000 and 248,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

This was about 50,000 fewer than the figure used before that in official statements.

It also varied from Gen. William C. Westmoreland's estimate of 242,000 which he gave to a Pentagon news conference two days earlier.

Westmoreland's estimate and the Saigon command's figures later that week both left out the political cadre which, though important, they chose not to count as part of the fighting force faced by nearly 500,000 Americans and allied soldiers in South Vietnam.

Essex Names School Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State School Supt. Martin Essex today named 14 persons to a new Adult Basic Education Committee to study ways of combatting adult illiteracy.

The committee will report to the Department of Education.

The education department administers approximately $1 million in federal funds to provide basic or literacy education, directed primarily toward making unemployed persons employable.

The department is also attempting to improve home conditions which will enhance the educational opportunity of children who are potential school dropouts.

Chairman of the new committee is Dr. George Young, Canton school superintendent.

WASHKANSKY DIES — Louis Washkansky died early Thursday less than three weeks after surgeons replaced his diseased heart with that of a young woman's in history's first cardiac transplant. The 55-year-old grocer is seen here during a visit with his wife several days ago in the hospital in Cape Town, South Africa.

3 Persons Killed, 25 Hurt As Twisters Hit Missouri

POTOSI, Mo. (AP) — Three persons were killed and more than 25 injured today when a tornado or tornadoes struck southeastern Missouri, the Missouri Highway Patrol said.

The patrol said the three deaths occurred at Potosi where a tornado swept slowly through the area causing extensive damage that extended into the community of Cadet five miles northeast.

The dead were not identified. Potosi's city hall, power plant, a shopping center and several homes were damaged or destroyed, troopers reported. At least 20 persons in the community of 3,000 were hospitalized.

The tornado struck as thundershowers and high winds lashed widely scattered sections.

The patrol said a tornado damaged 15 to 18 homes, destroyed several barns and other farm buildings and knocked down power and telephone lines late Wednesday night between Willow Springs and Burnham in extreme southern Missouri. Several persons were reported injured, none seriously.

Today a tornado hit near the communities of Viburnum and Bixby in the Clark National Forest. The patrol said at least four persons were injured, one at Bixby and three at Viburnum. Several homes were damaged, power lines and trees downed.

The Weather Bureau said communities suffering damage are located on a line extending from southern Missouri northeast toward the Missouri-Illinois border. Potosi is in the center of the largest lead mining district in the world, about 80 miles southwest of St. Louis.

The severe weather reached northeast across Illinois to Rantoul. High winds or a possible tornado took the roof off a night club and bowling alley near Jerseyville, about 40 miles north-east of St. Louis.

Thieu, LBJ Agree On Peace Policies

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam met here tonight with President Johnson and publicly agreed that Johnson's latest suggestions for promoting peace in Vietnam "were fully consistent" with the policy of his government.

Johnson and Thieu issued a joint statement following a working dinner which sought to dispel any idea the two leaders were in conflict over possible informal talks with representatives of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The joint statement said Thieu "reaffirmed willingness to discuss relevant matters with any individuals now associated with the so-called National Liberation Front, while making it clear that his government could not regard the front as an independent organization in any sense."

Johnson, in a taped television interview in Washington Tuesday, said "I have said that I think the war can be stopped in a matter of days if President Thieu's suggestion that he informally talk with members of the NLF are carried out, and if they would agree to what they have already agreed to in the 1954 accords and 1962 accords, and other points I mentioned—like one man, one vote under the present constitutional government."

Thieu was interpreted as taking a counterstroke to Johnson's in the remarks he made on his departure from Saigon for Australia, where the two leaders have joined others to attend memorial rites Friday for Prime Minister Harold E. Holt, lost in a weekend swimming accident.

Johnson received assurances from Australia's interim prime minister that its pro-American Vietnam policy won't change.

He had a dinner meeting with Thieu at the U.S. Embassy.

Parole Trio In Torture Slaying

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Three Indianapolis teenagers convicted in the 1965 torture death of Sylvia Likens will be paroled Feb. 26 from the State Reformatory.

The Indiana Parole Board Wednesday approved paroles for John S. Baniszewski, 14, Coy Hubbard, 17, and Richard Hobbs 17.

Each was convicted of manslaughter and drew 2-21-year sentences. The board said paroles were granted because the youths behaved well at their reformatory assignments.

A coroner's report and trial testimony revealed that Sylvia Likens, 16, was the victim of intense and repeated torture before she died Oct. 26, 1965, at the Baniszewski home. Her parents left her there to board.

Mrs. Gertrude Baniszewski, 38, and a daughter, Paula, 19, are serving life terms at the Indiana Women's Prison on murder convictions.

Transplanted Heart OK, Surgeons Say

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Prof. Christian N. Barnard said today the death of the world's first heart transplant patient left no evidence that heart transferrals should be discontinued.

Barnard, who performed the heart transplant of Louis Washkansky Dec. 3, said a post-mortem produced no clinical evidence that rejection played a part in the patient's death.

As soon as the occasion arises he will do the next heart transplant, Barnard told a news conference less than eight hours after Washkansky, 53, died in Groote Schuur Hospital.

Earlier Washkansky's anesthesiologist reported that the transplanted heart worked well until the very end and that the post-mortem indicated the patient died of a severe localized infection of the lungs.

Dr. Martinus C. Botha, a pathologist, also said at this stage there is no clear evidence that rejection played a part in the outcome of the operation.

Barnard and Botha appeared at the news conference with cardiologist Prof. Velta Schrire, pathologist R.J.G. Thomson and cardiologist Dr. A. Forder.

A statement issued to the press shortly before the news conference said: "Clinically the cause of death was respiratory failure due to bilateral pneumonia. This was confirmed at post-mortem by Prof. J. G. Thomson."

Asked if he considered Washkansky's death "negated the experiment," Barnard replied, "Firstly, I would not consider it an experiment—it was a treatment for a sick patient."

"The problem of infection was loaded against the surgical team," he said.

Washkansky had an infected leg and diabetes.

Thomson said that had pneumonia not played a part there was the possibility Washkansky would have lived for a few years.

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Kentucky man and an Ohio teenager were indicted by a Hamilton County Grand Jury Wednesday on first-degree murder charges in connection with a shooting here.

Police said the men are charged in the shooting of Hummel, Cincinnati, during an attempted robbery of a service station where Hummel was an attendant.

River Toll 30; U.S. Survey Set

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (AP) — President Johnson has ordered a national survey of bridge safety and a detailed investigation of the Silver Bridge collapse here as searchers continue to find bodies in the murky waters of the Ohio River.

The river yielded two more bodies Wednesday night and early today, raising the toll from the bridge collapse to 30. State Police have reports of 20 to 25 missing persons in connection with the disaster last Friday. The number changes as police receive missing persons reports and bodies are found.

Eight bodies were recovered Wednesday.

The last body, recovered late Wednesday night, was not.

The most recent victims were Julius O. Bennett of Walnut Cove, N.C.; Gene Mabe, High Point, N.C.; James R. Maxwell, 20, Gallipolis, Ohio; Ronnie G. Moore, 23, Gallipolis; Leo Sanders, 41, Point Pleasant; Donna Jean Casey, 27, Gallipolis and James Hawkins, 33, of Westerville, Ohio.

Approve Bill On Anti-Red 'Academy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without public hearings and despite opposition from the State and Defense departments, the House Committee on Un-American Activities has quietly approved a long-pending bill to create a "freedom academy" to teach Americans how to fight communism.

The academy would be run by a "freedom commission," patterned after the Atomic Energy Commission, with $228,500 in executive salaries.

The seven members of the freedom commission would each make $28,500 annually except for the chairman who would be paid $50,000. A general manager would be paid $27,000 a year to organize and operate the academy, bringing the cost to $228,500 in executive salaries.

U.S. Admits Red Figures Just Guesses

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We just don't know how many Viet Cong there are in South Vietnam," says a veteran military officer who holds a key Pentagon staff post and has seen both field and staff duty in Vietnam.

This officer, who asked that his name not be used, was long involved in the frustrating effort to get a reliable count of enemy strength in South Vietnam.

His view was echoed by other officers who have wrestled with the problem.

They acknowledged that some of the estimates boil down to educated guessing, based on analysis of intelligence gathered from captured documents, interrogation of prisoners and defectors, and reports from Vietnamese and U.S. sources.

Recent estimates have ranged from a low of 223,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong up to 400,000-plus.

Much depends on the terms of reference—whether those doing the estimating count only Communist soldiers or whether they add political cadre as well; whether they count regular and guerrilla soldiers or also include the much more shadowy "secret self-defense forces."

About a month ago, after better than a year of refining methods and studies, the U.S. intelligence community came up with what it regards as the most reasonable estimate of enemy strength.

The U.S. Command in Saigon announced Nov. 24 that it now calculates the Communist "order of battle" to range between 223,000 and 248,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

This was about 50,000 fewer than the figure used before that in official statements.

It also varied from Gen. William C. Westmoreland's estimate of 242,000 which he gave to a Pentagon news conference two days earlier. Westmoreland's estimate and the Saigon command's figures later that week both left out the political cadre which, though important, they chose not to count as part of the fighting force faced by nearly 500,000 Americans and allied soldiers in South Vietnam.

Essex Names School Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State School Supt. Martin Essex today named 14 persons to a new Adult Basic Education Committee to study ways of combating adult illiteracy.

The committee will report to the Department of Education. The education department administers approximately $1 million in federal funds to provide basic or literacy education, directed primarily toward making unemployable persons employable. The department is also attempting to improve home conditions which will enhance the educational opportunity of children who are potential school dropouts.

Chairman of the new committee is Dr. George Young, Canton school superintendent.

3 Persons Killed, 25 Hurt As Twisters Hit Missouri

POTOSI, Mo. (AP) — Three persons were killed and more than 25 injured today when a tornado or tornadoes struck southeastern Missouri, the Missouri Highway Patrol said.

The patrol said the three deaths occurred at Potosi where a tornado swept slowly through the area causing extensive damage that extended into the community of Cadet five miles northeast.

The dead were not identified. Potosi's city hall, power plant, a shopping center and several homes were damaged or destroyed, troopers reported. At least 20 persons in the community of 3,000 were hospitalized.

The tornado struck as thunderstorms and high winds lashed widely scattered sections.

The patrol said a tornado damaged 15 to 18 homes, destroyed several barns and other farm buildings and knocked down power and telephone lines late Wednesday night between Willow Springs and Burnham in extreme southern Missouri. Several persons were reported injured, none seriously.

Today a tornado hit near the communities of Viburnum and Bixby in the Clark National Forest. The patrol said at least four persons were injured, one at Bixby and three at Viburnum. Several homes were damaged, power lines and trees downed.

The Weather Bureau said communities suffering damage are located on a line extending from southern Missouri northeast toward the Missouri-Illinois border. Potosi is in the center of the largest lead mining district in the world, about 80 miles southwest of St. Louis.

The severe weather reached northeast across Illinois to Rantoul. High winds or a possible tornado took the roof off a night club and bowling alley near Jerseyville, about 40 miles northeast of St. Louis.

Thieu, LBJ Agree On Peace Policies

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam met here tonight with President Johnson and publicly agreed that Johnson's latest suggestions for promoting peace in Vietnam "were fully consistent" with the policy of his government.

Johnson and Thieu issued a joint statement following a working dinner which sought to dispel any idea the two leaders were in conflict over possible informal talks with representatives of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Johnson, in a taped television interview in Washington Tuesday, said "I have said that I think the war can be stopped in a matter of days if President Thieu's suggestion that he informally talk with members of the NLF are carried out, and if they would agree to what they have already agreed to in the 1954 accords and 1962 accords, and other points I mentioned—like one man, one vote under the present constitutional government."

Parole Trio In Torture Slaying

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind (AP)—Three Indianapolis teenagers convicted in the 1965 torture death of Sylvia Likens will be paroled Feb. 26 from the State Reformatory.

The Indiana Parole Board Wednesday approved paroles for John S. Baniszewski, 14, Coy Hubbard, 17, and Richard Hobbs 17.

Each was convicted of manslaughter and drew 2-21-year sentences. The board said paroles were granted because the youths behaved well at their reformatory assignments.

A coroner's report and trial testimony revealed that Sylvia Likens, 16, was the victim of intense and repeated torture before she died Oct. 25, 1965, at the Baniszewski home. Her parents left her there to board.

Mrs. Gertrude Baniszewski, 38 and a daughter, Paula, 19, are serving life terms at the Indiana Women's Prison on murder convictions.

Transplanted Heart OK, Surgeons Say

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Prof. Christian N. Barnard said today the death of the world's first heart transplant patient left no evidence that heart transferrals should be discontinued.

Barnard, who performed the heart transplant of Louis Washkansky Dec. 3, said a post-mortem produced no clinical evidence that rejection played a part in the patient's death.

As soon as the occasion arises he will do the next heart transplant, Barnard told a news conference less than eight hours after Washkansky, 53, died in Groote Schuur Hospital.

Earlier Washkansky's anesthesiologist reported that the transplanted heart worked well until the very end and that the post-mortem indicated the patient died of a severe localized infection of the lungs.

Dr. Martinus C. Botha, a pathologist, also said at this stage there is no clear evidence that rejection played a part in the outcome of the operation.

Barnard and Botha appeared at the news conference with cardiologist Prof. Velve Schrire, pathologist R.J.G. Thomson and cardiologist Dr. A. Forder.

A statement issued to the press shortly before the news conference said: "Clinically the cause of death was respiratory failure due to bilateral pneumonia. This was confirmed at post-mortem by Prof. J. G. Thomson."

Asked if he considered Washkansky's death "negated the experiment," Barnard replied, "Firstly, I would not consider it an experiment—it was a treatment for a sick patient. 'The problem of infection was loaded against the surgical team,' he said.

Washkansky had an infected leg and diabetes. Thomson said that had pneumonia not played a part there was the possibility Washkansky would have lived for a few years.

Food Stamp Plan Expanded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Welfare Director Denver L. White announced Thursday approval of 29 more counties for participation in the federal food stamp program.

The approval brought to 63 the number of Ohio counties now eligible.

The new counties are Ashtabula, Butler, Crawford, Delaware, Erie, Fulton, Gallia, Geauga, Greene, Hardin, Hocking, Huron, Licking, Logan, Marion, Medina, Meigs, Miami, Noble, Ottawa, Perry, Portage, Ross, Sandusky, Shelby, Van Wert, Vinton, Wood and Wyandot.

Under the program needy families receive bonus stamps which increases their buying power by an average of about $26 per month, White said.

Indict 2 Persons In Murder Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—A Kentucky man and an Ohio teenager were indicted by a Hamilton County Grand Jury Wednesday on first-degree murder charges in connection with a shooting here.

The jury returned true bills against Raymond Eaton, 29, Whitley County, Ky., and Carl Williams, 19, Cincinnati, in the Nov. 14 shooting death of Rodney Hummel, 25.

Police said the men are charged in the shooting of Hummel, Cincinnati, during an attempted robbery of a service station where Hummel was an attendant.

River Toll 30; U.S. Survey Set

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va. (AP) — President Johnson has ordered a national survey of bridge safety and a detailed investigation of the Silver Bridge collapse here as searchers continue to find bodies in the murky waters of the Ohio River.

The river yielded two more bodies Wednesday night and early today, raising the toll from the bridge collapse to 30. State Police have reports of 20 to 25 missing persons in connection with the disaster last Friday. The number changes as police receive missing persons reports and bodies are found. Eight bodies were recovered Wednesday.

Seven victims were identified. The last body, recovered late Wednesday night, was not.

The most recent victims were Julius O. Bennett of Walnut Cove, N.C.; Gene Mabe, High Point, N.C.; James R. Maxwell, 20, Gallipolis, Ohio; Ronnie G. Moore, 23, Gallipolis; Leo Sanders, 41, Point Pleasant; Donna Jean Casey, 27, Gallipolis and James Hawkins, 33, of Westerville, Ohio.

The White House issued a statement by Johnson, saying Secretary of Transportation Alan Boyd will be in charge of the bridge investigations. He will work with the office of Emergency Planning, the secretary of the Army and the governors of West Virginia and Ohio.

"We are all shocked by this cruel tragedy and loss of lives," said Johnson's statement. "We must assure ourselves that other bridges will be safe for our people."

"All Americans have a vital interest in obtaining answers raised by the collapse of the Ohio River bridge. That bridge, and many others, serve as vital links in our national highway and rail systems."

The Coast Guard has opened the Kanawha River, which flows into the Ohio one-third of a mile south of the collapsed bridge, to try and alleviate the shipping jam created by the disaster. Officials estimate about 60,000 tons of shipping is tied up.

But the Ohio River will remain closed at least until Saturday, and maybe longer. Divers and 100-ton floating derricks are trying to clear a 250-foot channel for boats, through the bridge debris.

However, the Coast Guard said all vessels which will be permitted to travel on the Ohio and Kanawha rivers must have special crews to watch for bodies.

The 39-year-old bridge was built by the American Bridge Co., which was a subsidiary of U.S. Steel at the time. It is now a division of U.S. Steel.

Court Rules For Lynd On Passport

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department can deny passports to persons who intend to use them to visit restricted countries—but can't block travel to such off-limits nations as Cuba if the passport isn't used in getting there, a court ruled.

These decisions were handed down Wednesday in separate decisions by a three-judge U.S. Court of Appeals.

In ruling the State Department can't withhold a passport on grounds an applicant won't promise not to visit a restricted country, the court upheld the appeal of Straughton Lynd, who visited North Vietnam in 1966.

The State Department subsequently revoked Lynd's passport despite the then-Yale professor's assurances he wouldn't use it in any future travel to restricted nations.

In a second case, the court upheld Secretary of State Dean Rusk's power to deny a passport to a person who won't promise not to use it to visit restricted lands. The case involved Jane Wittman, a New York teacher who visited Cuba in 1964 and later refused to pledge she wouldn't so use her passport in the future.

In a third case, the court rejected comedian Dick Gregory's request that it declare invalid the State Department ban on using passports to visit restricted countries. Gregory made his request last year when the department said he couldn't use his passport for his proposed trip to North Vietnam.

Gregory said at the time he planned to entertain U.S. prisoners of the North Vietnamese. He later canceled the trip, citing reasons other than the department's ban.

Expect ICC Decision On Trains

WASHINGTON (AP)—A decision expected from the Interstate Commerce Commission today or Friday will determine whether the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway can carry out its proposal to trim passenger service between the Atlantic Seaboard and the Midwest early next month.

Under the law, the ICC has until Friday to decide whether to conduct an investigation of the C&O's proposal.

If an investigation is ordered, the C&O will be required to continue operating the trains involved for four more months while the probe is conducted.

At issue is the future of the fast flying Virginian, a daily run from Washington to Cincinnati, and its Cincinnati-Washington counterpart, the Sportsman.

In addition, the C&O is seeking to drop trains between Portsmouth and Charlottesville, Va., and Detroit and Ashland, Ky., which provide connections and through cars to the Washington-Cincinnati run.

Auto Stolen, Found

An automobile, reported stolen at 2:30 a.m. today by Robert Strous of Laurelville, was found parked only a few feet from where it was taken less than an hour later.

The keys were not in the car when it was found. When taken, the vehicle was parked in front of Hanley's Restaurant on E. Main St. It was discovered in front of the In-Town Restaurant, also on E. Main St.

Auto Blaze Reported

The Circleville Fire Department was called to the intersection of Atwater Ave. and Northridge Road 3:32 p.m. Wednesday when an auto owned by Wayne Combs caught on fire.

The blaze was out when firemen arrived. There was no damage. The fire was caused by a carburetor backfire, inside No 10 Eagles.

Mt. Gilead Oil Boom Fades Out

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP) — More than a half million dollar drop in total property valuation for tax purposes was reported in this Morrow County seat Thursday as result of a slowdown in oil production.

The county initiated a program in 1965 to assess and collect taxes due on oil production that resulted from "the boom" in oil that began five years ago.

But latest figures disclose the pumping of oil in this rural northcentral Ohio county has slowed considerably. County Auditor Charles Fields reported the valuation of oil produced in the last year was $3.3 million, a decline of $2.2 million from the previous year.

Total valuation of all property is $58.4 million this year, a decline of $528,742 from last year. The drop in the value of oil produced accounts for all of the total loss. Real estate, personal property and utilities valuations all showed decreases of more than a half million dollars each.

ACCUTRON "428" Water-proof, sweep second hand, applied roman numerals. Rust alligator strap. $125.00

That was the year they put the balance wheel into the watch and started watches ticking. Now the tick tick is obsolete. After 300 years, it's been replaced by the tiny Accutron tuning fork which keeps time through vibrations. The result: a very faint hum and the most precise wrist timepiece ever. Accutron guarantees monthly accuracy within 60 seconds. We'd say this is the perfect gift of time.

OU Raise May Come By Default

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—James J. Whalen, vice president of Ohio University, has agreed that the school's nonteaching employees would get their long sought pay raise if "inequities" among employees of state-supported schools are eliminated.

Whalen referred Wednesday to comments of Oscar McGee, president of Local 1966, American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, after the State Compensation Board approved several demands which led to a strike at the school last March.

"Inequities among the state supported universities with respect to nonacademic personnel will accomplish the wage increase," Whalen said, noting that the board called for an investigation.

Those items approved by the board for Ohio University employees included paid hospital insurance and a 15-cent meal free for cafeteria employees.

predictions are off," said Graham Holmes, Bureau of Indian Affairs area director.

Many Navajos were being admitted to hospitals on or near the reservation suffering from pneumonia, exposure and respiratory ailments brought on by the cold weather. A U.S. Public Health Service official said most of the hospitals were at near capacity.

"We're able to move the ones who are less ill," said Dr. George Bock, PHS facilities director, "and the more severely ill can be flown out to peripheral hospitals if need be."

Holmes said the "death rate has held remarkably well," considering the conditions. Officials said there had been only three deaths attributable to the storms which first struck the nation's largest Indian reservation Dec. 13.

Both tribal Chairman Raymond Nakai and Holmes said there has been no reported cases of starvation among the estimated 110,000 Navajos living on the reservation, which is the size of West Virginia. Officials added, however, upwards of 60,000 Navajos are in need of food and fuel.

"We've got enough food, or food available, for the next three to four days if the weather doesn't turn bad," said Holmes. Nakai said there still is no indication the reservation will be declared an emergency area by the federal government. He wants the designation to enable utilization of heavy snow-removal equipment to open snow blocked roads.

Holmes said several federal agencies, including the Department of the Interior, the National Parks Service and the U.S. Forest Service are helping to move in snow-removal equipment. He said some pieces were expected to reach the reservation late today.

Nakai and Holmes said the Navajos are losing a lot of livestock.

Berger Board Says Farewell To Ben Gordon

Circleville Mayor Ben H. Gordon presided over a session of Berger Hospital's Board of Governors for the last time Wednesday night.

Mayor-Elect Richard Gerhardt, a guest at yesterday's meeting, will take over the gavel at the January session.

Wednesday's meeting, a rather lengthy one, saw little official action by the board.

The session opened with a 45-minute film presented by the State Department of Health on "Packaged Disaster Hospitals." There is presently a move underway to establish a PDH for the Circleville area.

ON HAND for a question and answer period was Peter Jensen, a representative of the state department. The board agreed to pursue the matter further and investigate the storage problems that would be encountered in local sponsorship of the 200-bed disaster hospital.

Board members agreed they "couldn't turn the offer down" although several problems would have to be worked out before they commit themselves.

Another lengthy discussion cropped up again concerning air conditioning for the hospital. Advertising for bids is expected to get underway shortly after the first of the year in an effort to complete the project by next summer.

James Stambaugh, administrator, reported that Berger had received certification from the State Department of Health for continued participation under Medicare and operation of the Maternity section.

Surviving are his parents, one brother Brad, of the home; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard A. Blecha; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Watson; and maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Will Rinne, all of Nebraska.

Graveside services will be 2 p.m. Sunday at Hitler - Ludwig Cemetery with the Rev. Paul Waens officiating. Arrangement will be made by Deffenbaugh Funeral Home.

Friends may contribute to the building fund of the First Methodist Church.

Court Rules For Lynd On Passport

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department can deny passports to persons who intend to use them to visit restricted countries—but can't block travel to such off-limits nations as Cuba if the passport isn't used in getting there, a court ruled.

These decisions were handed down Wednesday in separate decisions by a three-judge U.S. Court of Appeals.

In ruling the State Department can't withhold a passport on grounds an applicant won't promise not to visit a restricted country, the court upheld the appeal of Straughton Lynd, who visited North Vietnam in 1966.

The State Department subsequently revoked Lynd's passport despite the then-Yale professor's assurances he wouldn't use it in any future travel to restricted nations.

In a second case, the court upheld Secretary of State Dean Rusk's power to deny a passport to a person who won't promise not to use it to visit restricted lands. The case involved Jane Wittman, a New York teacher who visited Cuba in 1964 and later refused to pledge she wouldn't so use her passport in the future.

In a third case, the court rejected comedian Dick Gregory's request that it declare invalid the State Department ban on using passports to visit restricted countries. Gregory made his request last year when the department said he couldn't use his passport for his proposed trip to North Vietnam.

Gregory said at the time he planned to entertain U.S. prisoners of the North Vietnamese. He later canceled the trip, citing reasons other than the department's ban.

Expect ICC Decision On Trains

WASHINGTON (AP)—A decision expected from the Interstate Commerce Commission today or Friday will determine whether the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway can carry out its proposal to trim passenger service between the Atlantic Seaboard and the Midwest early next month.

Under the law, the ICC has until Friday to decide whether to conduct an investigation of the C&O's proposal.

If an investigation is ordered, the C&O will be required to continue operating the trains involved for four more months while the probe is conducted.

At issue is the future of the fast flying Virginian, a daily run from Washington to Cincinnati, and its Cincinnati-Washington counterpart, the Sportsman.

In addition, the C&O is seeking to drop trains between Portsmouth and Charlottesville, Va., and Detroit and Ashland, Ky., which provide connections and through cars to the Washington-Cincinnati run.

Auto Stolen, Found

An automobile, reported stolen at 2:30 a.m. today by Robert Strous of Laurelville, was found parked only a few feet from where it was taken less than an hour later.

The keys were not in the car when it was found. When taken, the vehicle was parked in front of Hanley's Restaurant on E. Main St. It was discovered in front of the In-Town Restaurant, also on E. Main St.

Auto Blaze Reported

The Circleville Fire Department was called to the intersection of Atwater Ave. and Northridge Road 3:32 p.m. Wednesday when an auto owned by Wayne Combs caught on fire.

The blaze was out when firemen arrived. There was no damage. The fire was caused by a carburetor backfire, inside No. 10 Eagles.

Mt. Gilead Oil Boom Fades Out

MOUNT GILEAD, Ohio (AP)—More than a half million dollar drop in total property valuation for tax purposes was reported in this Morrow County seat Thursday as result of a slowdown in oil production.

The county initiated a program in 1965 to assess and collect taxes due on oil production that resulted from "the boom" in oil that began five years ago.

But latest figures disclose the pumping of oil in this rural northcentral Ohio county has slowed considerably. County Auditor Charles Fields reported the valuation of oil produced in the last year was $3.3 million, a decline of $2.2 million from the previous year.

Total valuation of all property is $58.4 million this year, a decline of $528,742 from last year. The drop in the value of oil produced accounts for all of the total loss. Real estate, personal property and utilities valuations all showed decreases of more than a half million dollars each.

Stock Market Shows Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved higher in vigorous trading early this afternoon. Gains outnumbered losses by better than 2 to 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 89.09.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.7 at 317.7 with industrials up 3.4, rails up .5 and utilities up .6.

AT&T responded to big gains in profits and a corporate adjustment that reflected swift expansion in Bell System operations.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

OU Raise May Come By Default

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—James J. Whalen, vice president of Ohio University, has agreed that the school's nonteaching employees would get their long sought pay raise if "inequities" among employees of state-supported schools are eliminated.

Whalen referred Wednesday to comments of Oscar McGee, president of Local 1966, American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, after the State Compensation Board approved several demands which led to a strike at the school last March.

"Inequities among the state supported universities with respect to nonacademic personnel will accomplish the wage increase," Whalen said, noting that the board called for an investigation.

Those items approved by the board for Ohio University employees included paid hospital insurance and a 15-cent meal free for cafeteria employees.

Break in Weather Cheers Indians Caught in Snow

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP)

—Navajo officials saw a ray of optimism today in their battle to stave off starvation and illness among tribal members hit by a series of severe snow storms.

But, the weather remained the key item.

"If it snows and blows, all predictions are off," said Graham Holmes, Bureau of Indian Affairs area director.

Many Navajos were being admitted to hospitals on or near the reservation suffering from pneumonia, exposure and respiratory ailments brought on by the cold weather. A U.S. Public Health Service official said most of the hospitals were at near capacity.

"We're able to move the ones who are less ill," said Dr. George Bock, PHS facilities director, "and the more severely ill can be flown out to peripheral hospitals if need be."

Holmes said the "death rate has held remarkably well," considering the conditions. Officials said there had been only three deaths attributable to the storms which first struck the nation's largest Indian reservation Dec. 13.

Both tribal Chairman Raymond Nakai and Holmes said there has been no reported cases of starvation among the estimated 110,000 Navajos living on the reservation, which is the size of West Virginia. Officials added, however, upwards of 60,000 Navajos are in need of food and fuel.

"We've got enough food, or food available, for the next three to four days if the weather doesn't turn bad," said Holmes. Nakai said there still is no indication the reservation will be

Predict Ohio Road Toll of 34

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Traffic accidents in Ohio during the coming Christmas weekend running from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday will claim 34 lives, the Ohio Department of Highway Safety has predicted.

The same prediction was made for the New Year's weekend. Last Christmas, 36 persons were killed, and 27 perished in New Year's weekend traffic.

Mrs. Fred Chase, mother of five and wife of a struck copper miner who is too proud to take welfare money, says, "You can't tell a small child Santa Claus is on strike."

This is Christmas time, 1967, for 3,500 copper miners and their families in Butte. Christmas Day will mark the 165th

Notice is hereby given that Cledia B. Murphy whose Post Office address is 383 Walnut Street, Circleville, Ohio has been duly appointed Administratrix of the Estate of Jesse C. Murphy late of Pickaway County, Ohio, deceased. Dated this 8th day of December, 1967.

day of the nationwide copper strike for higher wages and fringe benefits.

There will be few gifts under striking miners' Christmas trees, and many will be eating deer they killed themselves instead of turkey.

"Our backs may be bowed, but our knees aren't bent," said Fred Chase, 42, a veteran of 15 years in the underground mines. "We'll just cheer each other up this year."

"I want my daddy to go back to work," said 9-year-old Mike Gustavsen. His father, Clifford, a muscular miner, sits at home babysitting and plunking a guitar.

Mike and two of his brothers, Kenneth, 11, and John, 8, earn a handful of change singing Christmas carols in the streets in zero cold and snow, holding out their hands to passersby.

They used the money to buy for their four brothers and sisters a coloring book, some candy canes, a truck and two model flying saucer kits.

Mike's grandmother gave him a dollar for helping clean her house. He bought gloves for two of his brothers.

The Gustavsen family is like many others in which the father has been out of work for six months in a city where copper is the lifeblood of the economy. There are no signs of settlement of the strike—or even of negotiations.

Fifty thousand copper miners are idle in Montana, New Mexico, Utah, Arizona and Nevada.

Nearby towns are taking up collections of used toys and clothing for strike-bound families. One restaurant will feed 2,600 strikers and their families free on Christmas Day.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — For an industry with a long-range future assured by rising population and incomes, housing seems to be unusually beset by short-term problems.

It is, in fact, America's problem industry, and not entirely through its own fault.

Last year tight money forced the industry as close to a depression as it has experienced in the past 20 years. The number of houses on which work was begun fell to the lowest level since World War II despite population increases.

The recovery has been steady since last year's low annual rate of $48,000 private housing starts. Money has again become plentiful and contractors have reassembled crews and are back to work.

The latest figures on housing, released this week, seem to indicate a healthy giant, and maybe it is. Housing starts in November rose for the fifth straight month, reaching an annual rate of 1,556,000 units, nearly 72 per cent higher than the 1966 low.

But, coincidental with these figures are some less encouraging symptoms: mortgage interest has now risen to its highest rate of the year, prices are up and housing permits, which foretell future construction, are lower.

In other words, housing may be headed for trouble once again, with money once more the disease in a body that otherwise might be in roaring good health.

This is what new home purchasers were offered in October: interest rate, 6.52 per cent; length of loan, 24.4 years, loan to purchase price ratio, 74 per cent; and purchase price, $27,500.

These are averages from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, and include rather widely differing rates for savings and loan associations, life insurance companies, mortgage companies and commercial and mutual savings banks. But, as averages, they still tell a story.

Average interest rates actually were lower in October than a year earlier, but a steady increase for several weeks accelerated in November, and rates now are near last year's high.

In addition, home prices have risen $1,800 in one year.

Partially offsetting these costlier factors are steadily rising incomes for most families, more jobs and less unemployment. Few analysts believe, however, that these financial pluses offset the higher costs of buying a home.

The most disturbing aspect of the present situation is that the demand for housing is building up powerfully and, if mortgages were available at more reasonable rates, would amount to a boom.

The biggest demand, potentially, is from the large number of persons born immediately after World War II. Another source of demand is from the great number of families which last year postponed purchases.

As a result, vacancy rates are now at their lowest of the 1960s, a fact that can be established in many areas of the country simply by checking the number of units vacant in any large apartment house.

Because of this potential demand, many economists foresee a market of two million homes a year by the early 1970s.

Peace Coming to Africa ?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Are things simmering down in Africa?

Since the African missions to the UN keep up a drumfire against Rhodesia, South Africa, and the Portuguese "colonialists" in Angola and Mozambique, it may seem foolish to ask such a question. Then, too, the civil war in Nigeria drags on, and the white mercenaries in the Congo don't know whether they will be permitted a choice between execution and repatriation to their own countries. But the verbal guerilla sniping in the UN corridors seems to have lost some of its zing. When Black Power advocates such as Stokely Carmichael and Rap Brown are busy urging separation of the races in the United States, it's hard to quarrel over white South Africa's policy of providing for seven so-called Bantustans (such as the Transkei and Zululand) where the Bantu tribesmen will be self-governing in everything save foreign policy matters affecting the South Africans and the outside world.

The illusion of a developing calm inside the old Dark Continent is sustained by a lot of things.

1. There is the recent economic union between Kenya, Tanzania, and Uganda. The currencies of the three East African countries have always been more or less interchangeable, but now they are going to have a common market, with uniform tariffs. Politically, Kenya and Tanzania have been on divergent courses. President Nyerere of Tanzania has welcomed the Red Chinese into his country where President Kenyatta of Kenya has been giving them the old yo-heave-ho for trying to corrupt the textbooks in his school. Tanzania is openly socialist where Kenya follows the Mexican policy of allowing a good deal of free enterprise in the name of the "revolution." But the two nations are not permitting ideology to stand in the way of following common trade policies, which could mean that ideology is ceasing to be a life-and-death matter on the African East Coast.

2. Some of the West Coast African nations are quietly giving up on old feuds. Guinea and the Ivory Coast have stopped seizing and detaining each other's nationals, and have actually exchanged some political prisoners whom they had vowed "never" to release until "national honor" had been satisfied. The propaganda which the more "revolutionary" African countries used to direct against President Houphouët-Boigny of the Ivory Coast for giving French free enterprisers a free rein in his markets has subsided. And most of the African nations that have accepted the help of agricultural missions from the Free Chinese in Taiwan refused to go along with the "Afro-Asian bloc" in the UN when the question of seating Red China came up in November.

3. The campaign to promote bloody civil war between blacks and whites below the Zambezi and Limpopo rivers has been dwindling. The effort to infiltrate Rhodesia and Southwest Africa with "freedom fighters" trained in Tanzania has been repulsed by prompt action on the part of the Ian Smith government in Salisbury and the South African police in their mandated Southwest African territory. Guerrillas still infest the northern forest regions of Portuguese Mozambique, but they aren't doing much to subvert the government in Portuguese Angola. And Rhodesia seems to be surviving the UN economic blockade.

4. There is a slow but perceptible thawing in the relations between black governments and the white South Africans. Malawi President, Dr. Hastings Banda, broke the black African front when he decided to allow a full diplomatic exchange with the South African government in Pretoria. The small black African countries of Botswana, Lesotho, and Swaziland "get along" with their giant apartheid neighbors on the South African "incandescent" tip. And South Africa under Prime Minister Vorster is now willing to let South African athletes compete against black athletes in mixed sports events, including the Olympics if the Olympic committee will permit it.

5. The development of the Transkei "Bantustan" under his own black leadership is still regarded with a cynical eye by those who question South Africa's sincerity in providing for free black republics. But when South Africa offered territorial freedom to the Ovambos of the mandated territory of South-West Africa, a few people around the UN in New York admitted that maybe, perhaps, and possibly, the South African government could be sincere about separate freedoms.

So is Africa "simmering down"? The answer must be a qualified "yes," even though all hell could break loose in the Congo tomorrow for all anyone actually knows.

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have been told that I have a form of arthritis in the hands. My fingers get stiff, especially in the morning, and I am scared that I will become disabled. Three doctors have given me different kinds of pills and still there is no change. Have you heard about a copper bracelet that prevents arthritis from becoming chronic? Where can they be bought?

Mrs. T. N., Wisconsin
Dear Mrs. N.: You have already fallen into the trap of shopping for a quick cure for the arthritis that you may or may not have. Having seen three doctors in a short period of time you probably have not given any of them the time necessary for the diagnosis and the treatment of our particular form of "arthritis."

Your impatience is now leading you into areas outside of the well-established practice of medicine and before long you will become involved with treatment far more dangerous than the valueless copper bracelet.

In order for you to understand why it takes so much diligence and patience to treat arthritis and to prevent its progress, let me just name some of the different kinds of arthritis and related conditions.

Arthritis may be caused by infections, rheumatic fever, allergy, injury, gout, drugs, circulatory disease, serum sickness and even tuberculosis. It takes a great deal of effort testing, X-rays and blood study to arrive at the exact nature of the arthritis. Not until you have continued on a diet and drug regime outlined by your doctor should you consider the treatment ineffective.

The value of copper bracelets as a defense against the onset or progress of arthritis is nil, absolutely nil. Yet you will find some people who will "fight to the death" any one who will dare say that copper is not the answer for forms of arthritis.

If you want to wear a copper bracelet, be sure it is an attractive one so that you may have that advantage at least, even if it serves no function in the arrest of your disease. Do not waste valuable time waiting for the valueless copper to work while other more important medical treatment should be going on.

We have two girls, twins, who were perfectly healthy until they began to go to kindergarten. They are now four-and-a-half years old and are never free from colds. Is this common?

Mrs. H. T., Illinois
Dear Mrs. T.: The growing pains of parents include your identical story. Before going to school children develop a moderate amount of immunity to "their own germs in their own homes."

When first they come in contact with other children the infections begin with a discouraging bang. After a while they subside and your children will begin to pass on their germs to those who follow them.

Don't be discouraged. We have all survived them and you will, too.

Problems of the office should not be bought home and imposed on the rest of the family.

Deputy Sheriff Has Bad Time

The deputy got back in his cruiser, but it wouldn't start. At his request, one of the Samaritans, pushed the officer to the scene of the disturbance. The deputy made an arrest—but again his car wouldn't start.

Again the helpful motorist gave a push this time to the county jail.

Police said Springs forced his way into her apartment and went toward her with a pocket knife and then she grabbed a .25 caliber pistol and shot him.

The World Today

By JOSEPH R. COYNE (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Which federal department aids the elderly helps the lumberman and promotes livestock production—all at the same time?

It's the Treasury Department and it does these and other jobs through tax relief and tax incentives. Officials don't particularly relish the task and would like to give it up to experts in these fields.

They relish less the long list of bills awaiting Congress' review next year which would provide a variety of tax credits ranging from underground transmission lines to antipollution devices and higher education.

And they have a strong ally in Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D. Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, who contends a tax incentive is nothing more than back-door spending and a failure to face up to a direct-spending program.

Mills said approval of any of the tax credit measures now before his committee would only whet appetites for a legion of other possible credits.

His opposition, together with that of the Treasury Department, will probably mean the death of tax-credit bills standing on their own. They could be attached as riders to other legislation, however.

Money saved through a tax credit, Mills said, must be made up by the rest of the nation's taxpayers and increases the deficit just as much as direct spending because it lowers the Treasury's tax revenues.

The Treasury has no over-all estimate of the tax loss from credits and other incentives but the special exemption for sick pay paid to workers costs $100 million yearly alone. Other forms of tax relief run into the billions.

President Johnson could ask for an overhaul of some tax incentives when he submits his promised tax-revision bill to Congress next year.

Stanley S. Surrey, a former Harvard University professor and now assistant Treasury secretary for tax policy, has placed his department on record against tax incentives to solve the nation's social ills.

He and other Treasury officials, like Mills, prefer the direct approach.

"The immediate leap to the tax solution serves only to stultify thinking about these social problems," Surrey has said.

And once the leap is made there's no chance to explore details of a program each year as Congress would do if direct federal spending were involved.

Survey also contends tax relief closes the door to the study of alternative solutions to the many problems facing the nation.

"Our progress in space exploration is not built on tax incentives, but on direct relations between government and business that bring forth the required participation by private enterprise," he said.

"Our capsules are not propelled into space by the Internal Revenue Code," added Surrey.

Another Treasury official, Melvin I. White, deputy assistant for tax policy, said if the nation continues down the tax-incentive road the Treasury will soon be making crucial decisions in all economic matters.

"I can assure you that the prospect of such an empire is not really an appealing one to the Treasury Department," he added.

A tax system, Surrey said, is presumably designed to raise money but at present is more like a spending system couched in tax language.

Leaves Teaching Post

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "When they used to call me a distinguished professor, I said I felt more like an extinguished professor. I didn't realize how prophetic that would be."

This was violin virtuoso Jascha Heifetz in a pishuk mood, but not without a degree of pique. He had called a reporter to his Beverly Hills home to announce some news: that he had left his teaching post at the University of Southern California.

The announcement struck a reminiscent note. Six years ago, Heifetz ended two years of teaching at UCLA on a sour note. The experience had been both a success and a failure, he said, adding: "I was hoping there would be less talk and more practice."

Once again Heifetz has parted with a university with a degree of discordance.

"Earlier this year I was notified that I was being relieved of my duties as of July. The reason for this is so ridiculous I would rather not discuss it," he said.

"After I was told I was unemployed, I replied that I was not ready to quit. Even though my staying may not be welcome, I intended to do so because I felt I could still provide some benefits to the students. I said I would leave when I was good and ready, and when I did, I might make a big noise.

"I continued teaching until recently, and then I left—but with little noise, merely removing my properties and saying so long to my colleagues. I left with sadness, because the experience had brought many pleasant memories. USC was not easy to reach (it is located in southern Los Angeles), but the work was good. I enjoyed working there."

Heifetz said his immediate plans were to "evaporate for a while," perhaps to do a little fishing. After the first of the year, he intends to resume teaching, this time in his own studio at his home. Later, he said, he might have some interesting plans to announce.

Authorities at USC were disturbed by the flourish of the violinist's departure and declared the teaching program had been a successful one. The problem, they said, had been money.

Dr. Raymond Kendall, who had been head of the music department and remains a faculty member since assuming presidency of the Performing Arts Council of the Los Angeles Music Center, had this explanation:

"Five and a half years ago, we established the masters' program with Mr. Heifetz. Gregor Piatagorsky and William Primrose as teachers for a three-year period. It was a very expensive program, but it proved so successful that it was continued two extra years. But then it had gone beyond what the university could afford to finance."

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — For an industry with a long-range future assured by rising population and incomes, housing seems to be unusually beset by short-term problems.

It is, in fact, America's problem industry, and not entirely through its own fault.

Last year tight money forced the industry as close to a depression as it has experienced in the past 20 years. The number of houses on which work was begun fell to the lowest level since World War II despite population increases.

The recovery has been steady since last year's low annual rate of $48,000 private housing starts. Money has again become plentiful and contractors have reassembled crews and are back to work.

The latest figures on housing, released this week, seem to indicate a healthy giant, and maybe it is. Housing starts in November rose for the fifth straight month, reaching an annual rate of 1,556,000 units, nearly 72 per cent higher than the 1966 low.

But, coincidental with these figures are some less encouraging symptoms: mortgage interest has now risen to its highest rate of the year, prices are up and housing permits, which foretell future construction, are lower.

In other words, housing may be headed for trouble once again, with money once more the disease in a body that otherwise might be in roaring good health.

This is what new home purchasers were offered in October: interest rate, 6.52 per cent; length of loan, 24.4 years; loan to purchase price ratio, 74 per cent; and purchase price, $27,500.

These are averages from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, and include rather widely differing rates for savings and loan associations, life insurance companies, mortgage companies and commercial and mutual savings banks. But, as averages, they still tell a story.

Average interest rates actually were lower in October than a year earlier, but a steady increase for several weeks accelerated in November, and rates now are near last year's high.

In addition, home prices have risen $1,800 in one year.

Partially offsetting these costlier factors are steadily rising incomes for most families, more jobs and less unemployment. Few analysts believe, however, that these financial pluses offset the higher costs of buying a home.

The most disturbing aspect of the present situation is that the demand for housing is building up powerfully and, if mortgages were available at more reasonable rates, would amount to a boom.

The biggest demand, potentially, is from the large number of persons born immediately after World War II. Another source of demand is from the great number of families which last year postponed purchases.

As a result, vacancy rates are now at their lowest of the 1960s, a fact that can be established in many areas of the country simply by checking the number of units vacant in any large apartment house.

Because of this potential demand, many economists foresee a market of two million homes a year by the early 1970s.

Peace Coming to Africa ?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Are things simmering down in Africa?

Since the African missions to the UN keep up a drumfire against Rhodesia, South Africa, and the Portuguese "colonialists" in Angola and Mozambique, it may seem foolish to ask such a question. Then, too, the civil war in Nigeria drags on, and the white mercenaries in the Congo don't know whether they will be permitted a choice between execution and repatriation to their own countries. But the verbal guerrilla sniping in the UN corridors seems to have lost some of its zing. When Black Power advocates such as Stokely Carmichael and Rap Brown are busy urging separation of the races in the United States, it's hard to quarrel over white South Africa's policy of providing for seven so-called Bantustans (such as the Transkei and Zululand) where the Bantu tribesmen will be self-governing in everything save foreign policy matters affecting the South Africans and the outside world.

The illusion of a developing calm inside the old Dark Continent is sustained by a lot of things.

1. There is the recent economic union between Kenya, Tanzania, and Uganda. The currencies of the three East African countries have always been more or less interchangeable, but now they are going to have a common market, with uniform tariffs. Politically, Kenya and Tanzania have been on divergent courses. President Nyerere of Tanzania has welcomed the Red Chinese into his country where President Kenyatta of Kenya has been giving them the old yo-heave-ho for trying to corrupt the textbooks in his school. Tanzania is openly socialistic where Kenya follows the Mexican policy of allowing a good deal of free enterprise in the name of the "revolution." But the two nations are not permitting ideology to stand in the way of following common trade policies, which could mean that ideology is ceasing to be a life-and-death matter on the African East Coast.

2. Some of the West Coast African nations are quietly giving up on old feuds. Guinea and the Ivory Coast have stopped seizing and detaining each other's nationals, and have actually exchanged some political prisoners whom they had vowed "never" to release until "national honor" had been satisfied. The propaganda which the more "revolutionary" African countries used to direct against President Houphouet-Boigny of the Ivory Coast for giving French free enterprisers a free rein in his markets has subsided. And most of the African nations that have accepted the help of agricultural missions from the Free Chinese in Taiwan refused to go along with the "Afro-Asian bloc" in the UN when the question of seating Red China came up in November.

3. The campaign to promote bloody civil war between blacks and whites below the Zambezi and Limpopo rivers has been dwindling. The effort to infiltrate Rhodesia and Southwest Africa with "freedom fighters" trained in Tanzania has been repulsed by prompt action on the part of the Ian Smith government in Salisbury and the South African police in their mandated Southwest African territory. Guerrillas still infest the northern forest regions of Portuguese Mozambique, but they aren't doing much to subvert the government in Portuguese Angola. And Rhodesia seems to be surviving the UN economic blockade.

4. There is a slow but perceptible thawing in the relations between black governments and the white South Africans. Malawi President, Dr. Hastings Banda, broke the black African front when he decided to allow a full diplomatic exchange with the South African government in Pretoria. The small black African countries of Botswana, Lesotho, and Swaziland "get along" with their giant pro-apartheid neighbors on the South African "incandescent" tip. And South Africa under Prime Minister Vorster is now willing to let South African athletes compete against black athletes in mixed sports events, including the Olympics if the Olympic committee will permit it.

5. The development of the Transkei "Bantustan" under his own black leadership is still regarded with a cynical eye by those who question South Africa's sincerity in providing for free black republics. But when South Africa offered territorial freedom to the Ovambos of the mandated territory of Southwest Africa, a few people around the UN in New York admitted that maybe, perhaps, and possibly, the South African government could be sincere about separate freedoms.

So is Africa "simmering down"? The answer must be a qualified "yes," even though all hell could break loose in the Congo tomorrow for all anyone actually knows.

Leaves Teaching Post

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

This was violin virtuoso Jascha Heifetz in a puckish mood, but not without a degree of pique. He had called a reporter to his Beverly Hills home to announce some news: that he had left his teaching post at the University of Southern California.

The announcement struck a reminiscent note. Six years ago, Heifetz ended two years of teaching at UCLA on a sour note. The experience had been both a success and a failure, he said, adding: "I was hoping there would be less talk and more practice."

Once again Heifetz has parted with a university with a degree of discordance.

"Earlier this year I was notified that I was being relieved of my duties as of July. The reason for this is so ridiculous I would rather not discuss it," he said.

"After I was told I was unemployed, I replied that I was not ready to quit. Even though my staying may not be welcome, I intended to do so because I felt I could still provide some benefits to the students. I said I would leave when I was good and ready, and when I did, I might make a big noise."

"I continued teaching until recently, and then I left—but with little noise, merely removing my properties and saying so long to my colleagues. I left with sadness, because the experience had brought many pleasant memories. USC was not easy to reach (it is located in southern Los Angeles), but the work was good. I enjoyed working there."

Heifetz said his immediate plans were to "evaporate for a while," perhaps to do a little fishing. After the first of the year, he intends to resume teaching, this time in his own studio at his home. Later, he said, he might have some interesting plans to announce.

Authorities at USC were disturbed by the flourish of the violinist's departure and declared the teaching program had been a successful one. The problem, they said, had been money. Dr. Raymond Kendall, who had been head of the music department and remains a faculty member since assuming presidency of the Performing Arts Council of the Los Angeles Music Center, had this explanation:

"Five and a half years ago, we established the masters' program with Mr. Heifetz, Gregor Piatagorsky and William Primrose as teachers for a three-year period. It was a very expensive program, but it proved so successful that it was continued two extra years. But then it had gone beyond what the university could afford to finance."

SANTA and the PIGWIDGEN

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: The Pigwidgeen refuses to lift the curse unless Claus beats him in a drinking bout. Tweedlekeys uses his wits and Claus wins the contest.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN THE RACE

AFTER the drinking contest the Pigwidgeen stomped away and all the pygmies withdrew to ponder the awful fact that their king had lost.

Claus waited in the great hall. Patrick Tweedlekeys crawled out from under the table. "Where have you been?" cried Claus. Tweedlekeys lifted the tablecloth. Claus leaned over and saw a half empty vat of chocolate milk. A hose led from the vat to the urn the Pigwidgeen has drunk from.

"So that was why the urn was always full!" exclaimed Claus admiringly.

"Precisely," replied the elf. "And now our wits together have twice defeated the Pigwidgeen and he must lift the curse."

But when Pigwidgeen returned, he announced there would be still another contest. This time he would race Claus to the end of the rainbow and the winner would name his own reward.

Before Claus could protest the Pigwidgeen left the castle and raced toward the far distant spot where the rainbow ended.

The Pigwidgeen had put on magic boots which could take 100 mile steps and when Claus had barely started the Pigwidgeen was halfway there.

"It is useless!" moaned Claus. He leaned against a tree and gasped for breath.

At that moment one of the flying reindeer appeared in the woods. Quietly Claus approached him and gently rubbed his nose. He climbed on the reindeer's back and whispered softly, "Fly! Oh, please fly me to the end of the rainbow!"

The reindeer soared into the sky and in an instant came to earth at the spot where the rainbow came to an end. Hours later the Pigwidgeen came panting up. There was Claus sitting on a rock, calmly smoking his pipe.

"What kept you?" enquired Claus pleasantly.

Claus, on the reindeer's back, soared into the sky.

Now the Pigwidgeen was mortified and sunk in gloom. But when they returned to the castle and Claus demanded that all curses be lifted, the Pigwidgeen declared there would be one last contest.

"And how do I know it will be the last?" demanded Claus. "Always you break your word and put me off."

The Pigwidgeen led Claus outdoors to a small round box in the middle of the lake of ice in front of the castle.

"This box holds all my sorcery," said the Pigwidgeen. "All my spells, charms, hoodoo, hexes, curses, incantations, enchantments and witchcraft."

"If you can lift the box, it will be yours and all my magic power will pass to you. If you can't lift it you will turn to stone. Agreed?"

Claus nodded solemnly. The box was very small. Even if it were filled with lead he was sure he could lift it if only an inch from the ice.

While the Pigwidgeen went away to call the pygmies to watch the contest, Patrick Tweedlekeys rushed up to Claus and cried, "It's a trick! The box is really the tip of the North Pole. No one on earth could lift it!"

"What shall I do?" groaned Claus.

Californian New Target Of Garrison

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison has charged Edgar Eugene Bradley, 49, of North Hollywood, Calif., with conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Bradley, on learning of the charge, said of Garrison: "This man is either being highly paid to do this or he's off his rocker."

He denied any part in the shooting of the late president, who was assassinated in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

Bradley is a West Coast representative of the Rev. Carl McIntire, a syndicated radio broadcaster and president of the American Council of Churches.

McIntire, of Collingswood, N.J., said he was astounded and added: "I'm sure that nobody that has any connection with our movement would have anything to do with something like this."

Bradley was the second man charged by Garrison with conspiracy to murder Kennedy. A similar charge was filed against Clay L. Shaw, 54, a wealthy retired New Orleans business man, March 1. He awaits trial.

Garrison, reached Wednesday at a Los Angeles hotel where he registered under an assumed name, declined comment.

The 6-foot-6 district attorney has been pursuing his controversial Kennedy assassination probe for about a year, accusing the federal government of mishandling its investigation.

The official Warren Report said Kennedy was killed by a lone sniper, Lee Harvey Oswald, formerly of New Orleans. It said no credible evidence was found that anyone else was involved.

Garrison contends there was a conspiracy involving several men, sponsored by extreme right wing political forces.

Liver Transplant Still Successful

By BURL OSBORNE
Associated Press Writer
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Julie Cherie Rodriguez, who extends liver transplant survival records every day she lives, reached milestones of another sort Wednesday—she met her new baby brother and was told she may be home from the hospital for Christmas.

Perhaps because she's not quite two years old, and has had little experience with Santa Claus and none with baby brothers, she seemed not at all impressed.

Neither does she yet understand what it means to have survived longer—five months Saturday—than anyone else known to have undergone the delicate liver transplant operation.

But her parents have watched for months now from the brink of heartbreak and they know. And knowing the risks and rewards is making this chance at a quiet Christmas at home with their two children a blend of anxiety and thanksgiving.

"I just hope and pray to God that Julie doesn't get sick again and we can keep them both," said her father, John Rodriguez of Pueblo, Colo.

On the other hand, his wife

Louise, who gave birth to 7-pound, 14-ounce John Anthony Monday, has said, and her husband agrees: "I've had her almost five months longer than I would have otherwise."

Ex-OU Student Given 2-15 Years

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — John Edwards, 25, one of four former Ohio University students arrested in a narcotics raid here earlier, was sentenced Wednesday to 2-15 years in the Mansfield Reformatory.

The Athens man had pleaded guilty in common pleas court to a charge of possession of narcotics.

Californian New Target Of Garrison

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison has charged Edgar Eugene Bradley, 49, of North Hollywood, Calif., with conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

Bradley, on learning of the charge, said of Garrison: "This man is either being highly paid to do this or he's off his rocker."

He denied any part in the shooting of the late president, who was assassinated in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

Bradley is a West Coast representative of the Rev. Carl McIntire, a syndicated radio broadcaster and president of the American Council of Churches.

McIntire, of Collingswood, N.J., said he was astounded and added: "I'm sure that nobody that has any connection with our movement would have anything to do with something like this."

Bradley was the second man charged by Garrison with conspiracy to murder Kennedy. A similar charge was filed against Clay L. Shaw, 54, a wealthy retired New Orleans business man, March 1. He awaits trial.

Garrison, reached Wednesday at a Los Angeles hotel where he registered under an assumed name, declined comment.

The 6-foot-6 district attorney has been pursuing his controversial Kennedy assassination probe for about a year, accusing the federal government of mishandling its investigation.

The official Warren Report said Kennedy was killed by a lone sniper, Lee Harvey Oswald, formerly of New Orleans. It said no credible evidence was found that anyone else was involved.

Garrison contends there was a conspiracy involving several men, sponsored by extreme right wing political forces.

Liver Transplant Still Successful

By BURL OSBORNE
Associated Press Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Julie Cherie Rodriguez, who extends liver transplant survival records every day she lives, reached milestones of another sort Wednesday—she met her new baby brother and was told she may be home from the hospital for Christmas.

Perhaps because she's not quite two years old, and has had little experience with Santa Claus and none with baby brothers, she seemed not at all impressed.

Neither does she yet understand what it means to have survived longer—five months Saturday—than anyone else known to have undergone the delicate liver transplant operation.

But her parents have watched for months now from the brink of heartbreak and they know. And knowing the risks and rewards is making this chance at a quiet Christmas at home with their two children a blend of anxiety and thanksgiving.

"I just hope and pray to God that Julie doesn't get sick again and we can keep them both," said her father, John Rodriguez of Pueblo, Colo.

On the other hand, his wife

Louise, who gave birth to 7-pound, 14-ounce John Anthony Monday, has said, and her husband agrees: "I've had her almost five months longer than I would have otherwise."

Ex-OU Student Given 2-15 Years

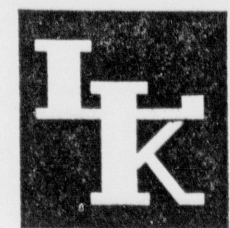

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — John Edwards, 25, one of four former Ohio University students arrested in a narcotics raid here earlier, was sentenced Wednesday to 2-15 years in the Mansfield Reformatory.

The Athens man had pleaded guilty in common pleas court to a charge of possession of narcotics.

Salome: Ambitious Aunt of Jesus

EDITOR'S NOTE—Some deserted Christ, but throughout his brief ministry on earth, Salome, his ambitious but faithful aunt, stayed by him, steadfast in her faith. Following is the third of a five-part Christmas series dealing with the kinsmen of Christ.

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

She was daring, venturesome, idealistic, brimming with energy. She was a woman to property. She apparently was ambitious and something of a firebrand. She also was Jesus' aunt.

They shared the same blood, by descent, and he, by commitment, joined it with others—the hungry, the strangers, the naked, the prisoners.

"As you did it to one of the least of these my brethren, you did it to me," he said.

The fraternal Galilean linked himself by intention with the downtrodden, the poor, the pursuers of peace and justice, but he also had natural ties given him by birth. Not all of them condoned his chosen involvements.

But his aunt did. She did so with majestic expectations, and eventually, with sobered realism.

She stuck close to him during the three years of his swift, momentous ministry, and was among the well-off women who, as reported in Luke 8:30, financed it "out of their means."

She was sure of the cause, even though she brashly misconstrued it, while many of his hometown relatives plainly doubted it. She pressed advice on him. She refused to abandon him even when danger drove most of his apostles away.

Salome was true - blue family. A typical sort of rich aunt, aggressive, strong - minded, meddlesome, but unswervingly loyal to her own.

Her name, although variants are possible, is indicated by comparing Scripture references such as John 19:25 which lists Jesus' "mother's sister" in a group of women and Mark 15:40 which list "Salome" instead in the same group.

Elsewhere, in Matthew 27:56, Salome is identified as "the mother of the sons of Zebedee"—James and John, who were among the apostles of Jesus, presumably cousins. He nicknamed the high-strung pair "sons of thunder."

Zebedee owned a fishing business with hired employees, Scripture notes, a fleet of vessels and doubtlessly a packing plant where the fish were salted down in casks for sale to freight caravans on the Damascus trade route.

It was a substantial industry, compared to the humble lot of the kinfolk in Nazareth, about 30 miles to the southwest.

Salome valued prestige, the leverage of class and possessions. It was the coin of world power, and she was a practical woman. But she also was socially concerned, a staunch Israelite, with strong feelings of nation and a compassion for its people.

Yet she and the hardheaded Zebedee must have been shaken when their two sons quit the profitable family enterprise to join with Jesus in his unpredictable, non-conforming activities. Zebedee, like most Jewish fathers of that time, would have counted on his sons to carry on his establishment. "O sons, listen to me," the sages of Proverbs plead. "A man's wealth is his strong city; the poverty of the poor is their ruin."

Yet Jesus' custom-shattering course plunged him into the very midst of the rabble—the beggars, the smelly tanners, the peasants, the outcast lepers, the wool-carriers, the sick and the halt.

"Blessed are you poor . . . you that hunger now, for you shall be satisfied." He had some inborn affinity with the stricken masses under the heel of imperial Roman arms and oppression. The meek, he said, "shall inherit the earth."

Salome sympathized, in a political sense. She, like many others stemming from the heroic House of David and its long-lost glories, yearned to see the foreign usurper driven from the land and Israel's greatness restored.

Zebedee kept gruffly busy with his ships and dock hands, and whether or not he approved of it, Salome began frequenting the happenings and gatherings wrought by her nephew. She likely visited often with her sister, Mary, about it.

It was a strange experience. At first, she may have been motivated by a desire to stay near her sons, but she absorbed the deeper magnetism of it, the current of powerfully rising expectancy.

She and other women of means furnished provisions and funds to sustain Jesus' itinerant company, and traveled much with it to attend its needs. Salome also was touched by the fiery dedication of her sons.

They were thunderbolts, indeed.

Once, when a village of Samaritans refused hospitality to Jesus, James and John advocated calling down fire from heaven to burn the town. But Jesus rebuked them.

"The Son of Man came not to destroy men's lives but to save them."

Again, when a healer was observed threatening the ill in Jesus' name but who declined to accompany Jesus' band, John in his zeal wanted to prohibit the man from working alone. But Jesus would impose no narrow exclusivism.

"For he that is not against us is for us."

Salome matched the fervor of her sons, absorbing the crowd excitement, the swelling intensity of the movement. All the land churned with hope of a messiah—a new kingdom to throw off Rome's yoke.

She recognized that James and John held a special place of confidence with Jesus, along with Peter. John especially was the "disciple that Jesus loved." She was convinced that soon, Jesus would establish his reign.

In anticipation, she went to him with her sons, as related in Matthew 20, saying she had a special request to make of him.

He was readily attentive. "What do you want?"

She put it bluntly, like an elder counselor accustomed to being heeded. "Command that these two sons of mine may sit, one at your right hand and one at your left, in your kingdom."

It seemed entirely reasonable to her, considering not only the family connections, but also the able diligence of her sons. It also was sound organizational planning to get major cabinet officers picked in advance.

Jesus looked fondly at his aunt, and slowly shook his head. "You do not know what you are asking." He turned to James and John. "Are you able to drink the cup that I am to drink?"

Always eager, not realizing the crucifixion he faced, they said, "We are able."

His expression clouded, and he nodded. "You will drink my cup." Indeed they would, later on, James slain by the collaborationist regime to become the first martyred apostle, and John arrested, exiled to a desolate island.

But Jesus didn't give the details. He said that the kind of passing political power proposed by Salome was not his to grant, that relationships would be settled in the divine province. The implications didn't seem to impress them.

The rest of the apostles, similarly preoccupied with potential governing status, were indignant that Salome had tried to curry special privilege for her sons.

These usual trappings of power had meant much to her. A sensible, direct woman, she had thought Jesus would achieve his sovereignty in these ordinary ways. But she also had a fuller, unqualified trust in him.

When he gained, not a crown, but a cross, she was among the few who stayed with him to the finish—some women, including her sister, Jesus' mother Mary, and only John among the apostles. It was a last family request when he asked John to care for Mary. "Behold, thy mother."

Things hadn't turned out as Salome had expected, or wanted. But whatever kind of dynasty Jesus was establishing, she believed in it. It would be a good one, including all those unfortunate sufferers he equated with himself.

He would build a bigger, nobler line. She could depend on it. After all, he was her nephew.

the finish—some women, in-cluding her sister, Jesus' moth-er Mary, and only John among the apostles. It was a last fam-ily request when he asked John to care for Mary. "Behold, thy mother."

Things hadn't turned out as Salome had expected, or want-ed. But whatever kind of dy-nasty Jesus was establishing, she believed in it. It would be a good one, including all those unfortunate sufferers he equat-ed with himself.

He would build a bigger, nob-ler line. She could depend on it. After all, he was her nephew.

NEW YORK (AP) — The portrait of a man descending to insanity was powerfully present Wednesday night in CBS adaptation of Nikolai Gogol's "Diary of a Madman."

Roger Coggio, a French actor, was the solo performer in the hour special, a tour de force in his portrayal of a clerk in a 19th century Russian bureau. The drama started at the beginning of his breakdown as he began to imagine he was a suitor of his boss' daughter.

The next step came when he believed he heard a dog speak to him. Then one strange idea crowded another, and as he became more insane, he deteriorated physically as well. From a line in a newspaper, he was persuaded that he was the king of Spain, and his madness was complete.

The drama started with a slow pace, quickening as the subject sank into madness.

It was very effective. The cameras were used most imaginatively, showing the actor in closeup much of the time, but moving a lot around him in a way that suggested his confusion and turmoil.

The scene shifted from the sick man's plain lodgings at the beginning to a barred cell in a mad house. In the final scene, he was beseeching his mother for help, and then in an abrupt change of mood, burst out in a wild laugh.

It was an impressive performance and a rather painful experience for the viewer. CBS was wise to postpone the commercials until the end and even then that jolly jingle about the length of a cigarette seemed shockingly inappropriate.

Earlier in the evening, the channels were full of the spirit of the holidays.

On "Hollywood Palace," ABC, Bing Crosby, his wife and three young children, all wearing Santa Claus beards were featured and Bing wound up the hour singing, of course, "White Christmas."

Then, on NBC, along came Mitzi Gaynor with a "Music Hall" Christmas show which also featured Santa Claus—Ed McMahon in a beard and singing "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas" slightly off key—and those wonderful Hollywood snow scenes. The high spot in the show was a Scrooge sketch with Cyril Ritchard playing a singing, dancing Ebenezer.

Miss Gaynor, an infrequent television performer, sings nicely and is a fine dancer. The show, however, was on the bland saccharine side.

It is nice that Christmas comes but once a year. A Christmas-loving viewer can get pretty tired of constantly hearing "Jingle Bells" and "The Little Drummer Boy" and seeing so many Santa Clauses with their phony Ho-Ho-Hos.

Recommended tonight: "The Dean Martin Show," NBC, 10-11 EST, with the entire Martin family and the Sinatras.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Euren

Prayer Is Simply a Talk with God

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have long been faithful readers of your column and as I have no one to turn to in my hour of despair, I must talk to someone.

How does one go on when his faith in prayer is shattered and the bottom has fallen out of everything? I feel my life is over and even my prayers are useless now.

We adopted a little boy when he was just one week old. We loved that child more than our own flesh and blood. We prayed for him constantly. Yet, between the ages of 15 and 18 he went from skipping school to robbery to rape.

Our hearts are broken. Our son was raised in a good Christian home. We went to church every Sunday and have always set a good example. We never had tobacco or liquor in the house.

Where have our prayers gone? We cannot understand it. We are numb, sick and brokenhearted. God bless you if you can help us.

HIS MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You speak of "prayer" as tho it were the premiums you paid for insurance against all ills and evils. It is not. Prayer is simply "a talk" with one's God. No amount of praying will protect another, in this case your adopted son, from the consequences of his own behavior. Each man must do his own praying. Just as each man must accept the consequences of his own acts.

I do not know where your son went wrong. But your faith in prayer should not have been shattered because he did.

DEAR ABBY: Recently my wife and I spent a night in Topeka, and I bought a copy of the Topeka Capitol Times. I was amused by a letter in your column from a wife whose husband was a millionaire who went around looking like a hobo. He wore suits for months without having them cleaned and pressed, didn't change his shirt for three or four days, bought the cheapest socks and underwear, etc. If my wife had not been traveling with me, I'd have sworn she wrote that letter.

Your answer was good, considering you didn't know the other side of the story, but since I do, and can speak from experience, let me back you up. The millionaire who goes around looking like a hobo does so out of protest. All he hears at home is, "Why don't you wear a freshly pressed suit? You've got a closetful. Why don't you change your shirt? You've got a drawerful. Why don't you shave? Why don't you get some new shoes? Do this, do that, do this, do that...etc." In other words, he is nagged to death, and the only way he can punish the wife is to ignore her and go around looking like a hobo.

ANOTHER MILLIONAIRE HOBO

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Dog Tired" for me that if her dog is a slob, there is a good reason for it. The animal is owned by a slob. And if he is unwanted and unloved by the family (with the exception of the kids who like to play with him, but refuse to care for him) she should get in touch with her Humane Society (or Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) and let them take him off her hands.

And if the dog has suddenly become valuable, moneywise, she should place a "For Sale To A Good Home" ad in her local newspaper. Just sign me, "PEOPLE TIRED"

Man Arrested In Slaying Of Officer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man who said he wanted to die in a gun battle with police was in the prison ward of a hospital today suspected of killing a highway patrolman.

Thomas E. Spychala, 38, of Maywood, Calif., was arrested in a drug store in Lomita, about 12 miles south of Los Angeles. Police said he had taken arsenic from the drugstore at gunpoint and swallowed it. His stomach was later pumped and he was reported in satisfactory condition.

Highway patrol motorcycle officer Merle Andrews, 39, died in a hospital Wednesday after he was shot twice in the chest, twice in the back and once in the leg.

He leaves a widow and 5-year-old son.

Spychala's arrest ended a daylong search that started when one of his neighbors told police Spychala had stolen his car and was armed with five guns and looking for police officers.

Police also had been warned by a minister that Spychala had a "death wish," to die in a gun battle with police, and that he intended to find his victim by breaking traffic laws.

Andrews had stopped the car allegedly stolen by Spychala, and was killed in an exchange of gunfire.

Aliens Report Addresses In January

Thomas M. Pederson, District Director of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service, stated today that the period within which aliens must report their addresses is almost at hand.

The month of January has been set aside for the address reporting period. All aliens in the United States, with few exceptions, must report their addresses to the Government during that period.

Pederson said that forms too be used to make the report will be available at all Post Offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service during the month of January.

He urged all aliens to comply with the reporting requirements, as willful failure to do so may lead to serious consequences.

Dismissal Of Sheppard Suits Asked

CLEVELAND (AP)—Motions have been filed in U.S. District Court to throw out Samuel H. Sheppard's damage suits against the E. W. Scripps Co., publisher of the Cleveland Press, and Louis B. Seltzer, retired editor of the newspaper.

A motion to dismiss filed Wednesday contends that Sheppard does not have a proper case under the Civil Rights Act. A motion to quash charges that Sheppard's residency in West Germany means he has no state citizenship to give him the needed "diversity of citizenship" to file his case in federal court.

No specific damage figure was asked in the suits filed last month. Sheppard charged that the Scripps, Seltzer and Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber plotted his wrongful conviction for murder of his first wife in July, 1954.

Sheppard spent 10 years in prison on a second-degree murder conviction, but was released when a federal judge ruled that he did not receive a fair trial. He was acquitted at a second trial in November, 1956.

Mail Delivery With a Bonus

HONOLULU (AP) — The Coast Guard reports it received a radio message from the crew of a freighter which is apparently anxious to get its mail picked up.

The message from the Loma Victory said it was "dropping off crew's mail in a mail buoy one mile south of Honolulu channel buoy in two five gallon cans."

The message added, "There is 10 bucks in it for Christmas presents for whoever picks it up."

Ohio Woman Killed

TIPTON, Ind. (AP)—Claudia Whitesel, 48, Union City, Ohio, was killed Wednesday in a two-car crash at the U.S. 31-Ind. 28 intersection near here.

Senior Citizens Program Works at Yellow Springs

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP)—The senior citizens program in this Greene County community of 4,000 persons is developing far beyond the wildest expectations of state officials who back it.

"There's a most unusual situation here for a community of this size," says Mrs. Rose Papier, coordinator for the Ohio Administration of Aging, who expresses bubbling enthusiasm over the program.

The administration recently approved a three-year, $47,000 grant for the program here which actually began years ago when a senior citizens center was established in an old opera house.

The center later expanded to its present home, a converted dime store building, and plans are under way to build a new one.

"We have about 400 persons over 65 in Yellow Springs," says the Rev. Wesley Matthews, center director.

"We are reaching about 365 with one program or another. Our goal is to have 100 per cent participation, but some still are so active they do not consider themselves senior citizens."

What makes the center so popular with the older folk? John W. Edelman, president of the National Council of Senior Citizens, said after a recent visit:

Seek Cash To Inspect 3 Bridges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways announced today it would ask the State Controlling Board for $40,000 with which to hire consultants to inspect the only three bridges across the Ohio River owned by Ohio.

The Controlling Board was scheduled to meet today.

The three bridges are the one carrying U.S. 30 across the river between East Liverpool and Chester, W. Va.; the Ft. Steuben Bridge at Steubenville, and the Pomeroy-Mason Bridge.

The highway department said it intends to hire the firm of Madjeski and Masters of Harrisburg, Pa., to make the survey to determine the safety of the bridges.

The action stems from the tragedy collapse of the West Virginia-owned Pt. Pleasant, W. Va. — Kanauga, Ohio bridge last Friday evening, which, thus far, has caused more than a score of known deaths.

Murder, Suicide In Stow, Ohio

STOW, Ohio (AP) — Summit County Coroner A. H. Kyriakides returned a verdict of murder and suicide in the shooting deaths of a man and woman here Wednesday night.

Dr. Kyriakides said Donald Glavas, 41, of Detroit shot his divorced wife, Irene, 43, in the chest and then shot himself in the head with a .25 - caliber pistol.

The shootings occurred at the woman's home and apparently were preceded by an argument, the coroner said.

Yellow Springs."

The center operates a low-rent housing unit for 22 persons; provides a cab service for the elderly (Yellow Springs has no public transportation); provides general housecleaning services for elderly who are sick or incapacitated in their homes and operates a thrift shop where used clothing is refurnished and dispensed at no cost to the senior citizens.

Antioch College also is active in the program.

The school cafeteria prepares 27 hot meals and delivers them three times weekly to older persons. The regular $2 meal is delivered for $1.35 or at no cost at all if an older person cannot afford it.

Antioch also offers broad adult education programs.

Man Arrested In Slaying Of Officer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man who said he wanted to die in a gun battle with police was in the prison ward of a hospital today suspected of killing a highway patrolman.

Thomas E. Spychala, 38, of Maywood, Calif., was arrested in a drug store in Lomita, about 12 miles south of Los Angeles. Police said he had taken arsenic from the drugist at gunpoint and swallowed it. His stomach was later pumped and he was reported in satisfactory condition.

Highway patrol motorcycle officer Merle Andrews, 39, died in a hospital Wednesday after he was shot twice in the chest, twice in the back and once in the leg.

He leaves a widow and 5-year-old son.

Spychala's arrest ended a daylong search that started when one of his neighbors told police Spychala had stolen his car and was armed with five guns and looking for police officers.

Police also had been warned by a minister that Spychala had a "death wish," to die in a gun battle with police, and that he intended to find his victim by breaking traffic laws.

Andrews had stopped the car allegedly stolen by Spychala, and was killed in an exchange of gunfire.

Aliens Report Addresses In January

Thomas M. Pederson, District Director of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service, stated today that the period within which aliens must report their addresses is almost at hand.

The month of January has been set aside for the address reporting period. All aliens in the United States, with few exceptions, must report their addresses to the Government during that period.

Pederson said that forms too be used to make the report will be available at all Post Offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service during the month of January.

He urged all aliens to comply with the reporting requirements, as willful failure to do so may lead to serious consequences.

Dismissal Of Sheppard Suits Asked

CLEVELAND (AP)—Motions have been filed in U.S. District Court to throw out Samuel H. Sheppard's damage suits against the E. W. Scripps Co., publisher of the Cleveland Press, and Louis B. Seltzer, retired editor of the newspaper.

A motion to dismiss filed Wednesday contends that Sheppard does not have a proper case under the Civil Rights Act. A motion to quash charges that Sheppard's residency in West Germany means he has no state citizenship to give him the needed "diversity of citizenship" to file his case in federal court.

No specific damage figure was asked in the suits filed last month. Sheppard charged that the Scripps, Seltzer and Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber plotted his wrongful conviction for murder of his first wife in July, 1954.

Sheppard spent 10 years in prison on a second-degree murder conviction, but was released when a federal judge ruled that he did not receive a fair trial. He was acquitted at a second trial in November, 1966.

HONOLULU (AP) — The Coast Guard reports it received a radio message from the crew of a freighter which is apparently anxious to get its mail picked up.

The message from the Loma Victory said it was "dropping off crew's mail in a mail buoy one mile south of Honolulu channel buoy in two five gallon cans."

The message added, "There is 10 bucks in it for Christmas presents for whoever picks it up."

Senior Citizens Program Works at Yellow Springs

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP)—The senior citizens program in this Greene County community of 4,000 persons is developing far beyond the wildest expectations of state officials who back it.

"There's a most unusual situation here for a community of this size," says Mrs. Rose Papier, coordinator for the Ohio Administration of Aging, who expresses bubbling enthusiasm over the program.

The administration recently approved a three-year, $47,000 grant for the program here which actually began years ago when a senior citizens center was established in an old opera house.

Officials Expect Big Crowd At Tiger-Viking Cage Clash

Circleville meets Teays Valley Friday in the final game before the Christmas holiday. The Tigers then face a two-week layoff.

After the clash with the Vikings, Circleville's next cage game comes Jan. 5 when they travel to Hillsboro for a South Central Ohio League contest.

The Tigers will be looking for their first win of the season against the Vikings who have only one victory, a one point squeaker over Hamilton Twp.

Circleville Coach Chuck Hill is still searching for a guard combination that can move the ball with a minimum of errors.

DAVE Horst, a junior, has nailed down one guard post, but the other is up for grabs. Hill indicated today he may move sophomore Charlie Jackson from forward to guard.

If he does, Gene Dyke will play at center, Jeff Steele and Ty Ankrom at forwards.

"We lack consistency," Hill said. "Some of the boys will play real good for a quarter or so but they can't seem to keep it up."

In an effort to overcome the tenseness that seems to bother the Tiger cagers when they get in a game, Hill is setting up a series of scrimmages with other schools over the holidays.

Beginning Dec. 26, he hopes to schedule eight scrimmages over a four day period. He currently has sessions on tap with Whitehall, Mt. Vernon, Utica, Groveport and Pickerington.

"It can't hurt us and maybe by playing what amounts to a half a season in four days we will learn to relax during a game," the Tiger cage mentor explained.

WEDNESDAY the Tigers scrimmaged Logan Elm in preparation for the game with Teays Valley.

Kentucky Wesleyan Closes Rating Gap on San Diego

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kentucky Wesleyan Panthers are likely to at least close the gap between themselves and leading San Diego State in The Associated Press' small-college basketball poll now that the Aztecs' unbeaten streak has gone by the boards.

San Diego State remained in the No. 1 spot in the latest poll based on games through last Saturday.

Christiansen Gets the Ax

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League fired Coach Jack Christiansen on his 39th birthday Wednesday — and speculation swirled as to a possible successor.

The ax was not entirely unexpected following this season's 7-7 mark.

The names of two Christiansen assistants—Bill Johnson and Y.A. Tule—have come up as possible successors.

Lou Spadia, president of the 49ers, gave Christiansen his notice at a meeting in Redwood City, and said he had not had any contacts concerning a possible successor—but would like to start talks soon.

Christiansen commented: "That happens to a coach if he doesn't win. Mr. Spadia gave no reason. He said things didn't work out like he hoped and he wanted a change."

"I had hoped to be given a chance to continue after we won our last two games."

Brothers Hull Whomp Boston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The brothers Hull have completed Operation Overhaul and Chicago's hot Black Hawks once more rule the National Hockey League roost.

Brilliant Bobby Hull scored his 26th and 27th goals of the season Wednesday night and brother Dennis also connected twice as the defending NHL champs, left at the gate in October, whipped Boston 6-3 and grabbed sole possession of first place in the East Division race.

The victory extended Chicago's unbeaten streak to eight games and sent the Hawks, who started the season with a six-game losing string, two points up on the Bruins, who fell into the runner-up spot.

Elsewhere, Dick Duff's hat trick paced the Montreal Canadiens to a 5-0 triumph over Toronto, New York blanked Detroit 2-0 and St. Louis edged Oakland 2-1.

Jackson Is County Jr. High Basketball League Champion

Jackson reigns as king of the Pickaway County Junior High Basketball League today, having posted a 16-19 decision over Walnut for a perfect season.

In other county junior high league action Wednesday, once beaten Scioto stopped Monroe, 41-23; Ashville defeated Pickaway, 58-19, and Saltcreek rolled to a 63-33 verdict over Washington.

In the Jackson victory, Bruce Beatty scored 24 points. He got a 19-point assist from Tom Cook

Ohio U Drops Tilt, 78-64, To Idaho

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio University's Fred Cluff dropped in 21 points, but his team couldn't match Idaho on the scoreboard total in basketball action Wednesday night. Ohio came out sporting a 78-64 loss.

In and out of the state, the picture was much the same. Only three of eight Ohio teams managed victories.

Loyola of Los Angeles, operating a tight zone defense, forced Xavier to fire shots from afar and rolled over the Musketeers 80-69. The loss was Xavier's fifth straight.

The Lions held Xavier to only seven of 25 field goal attempts in the second half.

Steuenville bowed to Wisconsin State 94-85 as the Titans tagged the Barons for their sixth consecutive victory.

The Detroit College Falcons had the high-point man — center Henry Sterken with 43—but it wasn't enough against the Urbana Blue Knights. Urbana took the game 96-91.

In the Marshall Tournament at Huntington, W. Va., Marshall beat Virginia 97-89 and Manhattan defeated Bowling Green, 75-64. Ohio Wesleyan lost to Philblant Naval Base in the Norfolk, Va., Tourney.

At the Spring Arbor, Mich., Tournament, Capital defeated Huntington, Ind., 98-78, and Malone hit Bethel, Ind., for a 96-89 victory.

Muskies Top Buccaneers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Professional basketball came to Mississippi Wednesday and the boys from the Minnesota tundra had a better time of it than the ones from the Louisiana bayou.

The Minnesota Muskies beat the New Orleans Buccaneers 100-93 as some 4,500 fans turned out in Jackson, Miss., for an American Basketball Association game that had been switched from Memphis, Tenn., because of poor attendance at earlier games there.

Actually, the Eastern Division-leading Muskies needed the victory far more than Bucs, who lead in the West. Minnesota now leads Pittsburgh by just one game, while New Orleans is up by 6½ games over Denver.

In other ABA games Wednesday night, Houston edged Kentucky 99-98 at Houston and Indiana nipped Anaheim 144-142 at Fresno, Calif.

Cage Changes Are Derided

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Lienhard, University of Georgia sophomore who is 6-11 and still growing, says he doesn't think there's anything the rules-makers can do to cut down high scoring.

"They talk about raising the baskets and making them smaller," the New York youngster, who played against UCLA's 7-14 Lew Alcindor in high school, commented today. "No matter what they do, the fellows will find a new way to get the ball through the hoop."

Lienhard is averaging around 30 points and 22 rebounds a game for the Georgia Bulldogs, whose new emphasis on the game may bring them their first winning season in 18 years. Georgia is 3-1 at the moment.

76ers Wipe Out Seattle, 160-122

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers exploded for 53 points in the last quarter against Seattle and set a record in the National Basketball Association.

Big Wilt Chamberlain, with 53 points and 38 rebounds, helped the NBA champions erase the league mark for most points in one quarter in their 160-122 rout of the Supersonics Wednesday night.

In the other games, all played on the West Coast also, New York whipped Los Angeles 138-131, San Francisco edged Detroit 113-109 and Boston downed San Diego 126-116.

Talented 8th Grader May Oppose Cage Coach Father

By HAL PARIS

Associated Press Sports Writer

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—There's a great deal of interest in Tuscarawas County these days on where a talented eighth grader will play his high school basketball.

The youth in question is Bob Huggins, an eighth grader at Indian Valley North who is a highly-touted cage star.

Huggins' ability and love for basketball comes naturally—his father Charley is head coach of Strasburg High School. Charley Huggins guided Strasburg to the Class A scholastic championship last March.

But young Huggins may never play for his dad.

The Huggins family lives in Midvale, a few miles south of here. Strasburg, where Huggins coaches, is a few miles north of here, but in another school district.

If Charley wants to coach his son, he'll have to move his family into the Strasburg school district. Otherwise, some near-by coaching associate stands to profit from Huggins' geographical dilemma.

It's a problem that most coaches probably wouldn't mind facing.

"I don't see any reason to make a hasty decision," Huggins said. "We can wait until after this year anyway."

Some coaches believe coaching your own son just doesn't work out. But Huggins' situation is a bit different. He may find himself in a position of being beaten by his own son.

"There are other considerations," Coach Huggins said. "Don't forget the pressure on the boy and there are others at home who must be considered."

The younger Huggins is 6-foot-2 and has canned 174 points in five games, an average of almost 35 points a contest. In one outing, he tossed in 45, mostly on outside set shots.

Last week, in what could be a preview of things to come, the Strasburg eighth graders met and defeated their counterparts from Indian Valley North.

Strasburg came from behind to cop their sixth in a row, 57-44, but did not take the lead until midway through the fourth quarter.

Coach Huggins was busy conducting varsity practice and missed the eighth grade action. But son Bob took scoring honors with 25 points before fouling out with 1:29 remaining.

If Huggins decides not to move his family to Strasburg, he might as well start working on ways now to defend against his high-scoring son.

Junior High Grapplers Lose

The Circleville Junior High wrestling team lost to Hamilton Twp. Wednesday, 35-21.

Winning for Circleville were 120-pound grappler, John Dean by a decision; 127 pound Richard Campbell, who pinned his opponent 133-pound Gary Robbins, by a 12-9 decision; Iain Griffey, in the 138-pound class with a 9-0 decision; Mark Davey in the 175 pound class by a pin.

Davey is undefeated this year. Butch Thomas battled to a 4-4 draw for the Tigers in his event.

The Tiger junior high squad is improving according to coach Brent Bell although they lost the first six matches of yesterday's meet.

The lighter wrestlers lack experience Bell said.

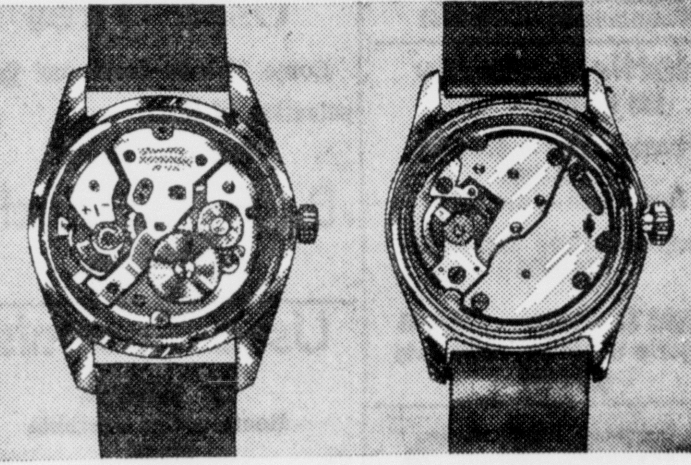

Cincy Reds Hire Ticket Director

CINCINNATI (AP)—The first student ever to receive a master's degree in sports administration has been named assistant ticket director for the Cincinnati Reds.

David Coffey, 25, a native of Lakewood, Ohio, earned his degree this year at Ohio University, the only school in the country to offer this program. He will take over his new job with the National League baseball team Dec. 29.

Coffey was an all mid-west soccer team selection in his college days at Ohio U.

The Houston Oilers have clinched a tie for the American Football League's Eastern Division crown according to Hoyle, the football specialist, not the games expert.
Hoyle to the Oilers is hard-running Hoyle Granger, who has blossomed into one of the American Football League's top rushers.
Granger was named AFL Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press today after gaining 107 yards against San Diego in the 24-17 victory that insured Houston of no worse than a tie for the title.

Red Sox Low In Defense Data
BOSTON (AP) — Pitching and defense may be considered the key to championship baseball, but the Boston Red Sox took care of matters with their hitting in winning the American League pennant this year.
The Red Sox, who led the league in most hitting departments, finished eighth in club pitching with a combined 3.36 earned run average.
And, in the fielding department, the Red Sox finished next to last, beating out the lowly New York Yankees by just one percentage point for ninth place.

Red Sox Low In Defense Data
BOSTON (AP) — Pitching and defense may be considered the key to championship baseball, but the Boston Red Sox took care of matters with their hitting in winning the American League pennant this year.

The Red Sox, who led the league in most hitting departments, finished eighth in club pitching with a combined 3.36 earned run average.

And, in the fielding department, the Red Sox finished next to last, beating out the lowly New York Yankees by just one percentage point for ninth place.

Hoyle Granger Player of Week
By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Houston Oilers have clinched a tie for the American Football League's Eastern Division crown according to Hoyle, the football specialist, not the games expert.

Hoyle to the Oilers is hard-running Hoyle Granger, who has blossomed into one of the American Football League's top rushers.

Granger was named AFL Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press today after gaining 107 yards against San Diego in the 24-17 victory that insured Houston of no worse than a tie for the title.

Castro Arrests

Pro-Soviet Cubans

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro's Communist government has jailed about 40

pro-Soviet party members, including a central committee member, for opposing Castro's policy of exporting revolution, informed sources say.

The sources said Wednesday night that the dissidents could not be described as being against the government but favored a Soviet-style line of concentrating on domestic economic problems. They also reported opposed the party's campaign to eliminate material rewards for workers.

Strange Things Happen at Christmas Time

By HAL COOPER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — 'Tis the season to be jolly, and what could be jollier than getting a gift-wrapped shark for Christmas?

Or Santa Claus playing accomplice to a pair of bank robbers?

Or a Christmas tree which grows its own ornaments?

Or take the little Jewish boy who informs the store Santa

Claus in Omaha that while he does not celebrate Christmas he does observe Chanukah, the festival of lights. So Santa Claus asks him what would he like for Chanukah, and the kid says "A Christmas tree."

The Christmas shark bit was dreamed up by a pet dealer in Caracas, Venezuela. As the gift for the man who has everything, including an extra swimming pool, the dealer offered live sharks at $22 a head.

Cincinnati was where Santa

Claus turned up as the innocent stooge in a bank robbery. He was standing in front of the lens of a tell-tale camera intended to discourage holdups. So two gunmen clipped a teller for $4,200

and scrambled, unphoto-graphed and unidentified.

The self-decorating Christmas tree? It has been developed in an arboretum at Placerville, Cal.

if, by the Forest Genetics

Institute of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The Institute crossed two types of lodgepole

pine and emerged with a tree which develops ornamental cones while still small enough to stand in a room.

In Portland, Ore., postal workers browsing through letters to Santa Claus ran across one from a little girl named Susan which contained a warning:

"Santa, I want to tell you about our chimney. We haven't got one."

In Los Angeles, thieves marked up an assist for Christmas shoppers. The sheriff held a holiday auction of 500 unclaimed stolen articles retrieved from burglars and such.

In Des Moines, Iowa, a merchant cutely wrapped his front door to resemble a big Christmas present and pasted on a label saying "Please DO open before Christmas."

A criminal prosecutor in Tulsa, Okla., was rather pleased to receive a Christmas card from a man he had sent to prison, at least until he read the greeting:

"Christmas would be so much better this year, if only I were there, or you were here."

Christmas carols came under fire twice in, of all places, merrie England, which invented

most of them.

Charles Craddock, a regional railway manager, banned carols

from the public address system of nine London and suburban train stations, explaining:

"I can imagine the ribald remarks passengers waiting for late-running trains might make when they hear 'God rest ye merry gentlemen, let nothing

you dismay.'"

In Ipsley, England, the Rev.

Frederick Foreman out-scrooged Scrooge by denouncing carols as "meaningless twaddle." For instance, he pointed out, "merry gentlemen" might well be construed as a reference to a bunch of the boys whooping it up in a pub.

Skydiver Pilot Still Has License

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Wednesday was the deadline for Robert

Karns of Vermilion to surrender his pilot's license to the Federal Aviation Administration or ask for a formal hearing on charges against him, but he still has his license.

Karns piloted a B25 from which 18 skydivers jumped into Lake Erie Aug. 27 off Huron.

Only two of the parachutists survived. The FAA charged that Karns broke a number of rules, including permitting the parachutists to jump through cloud cover.

Thomas Halloran, lawyer-investigator for the federal agency, said in New York Wednesday that Karns' lawyer, Lawrence N. Schell of Vermilion, has asked to meet FAA officials

Jan. 3 for an informal discussion of the revocation notice.

Cyprus Peace

Force Expires

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(AP) — The U.N. Security

Council raced against the clock today in an attempt to agree on a resolution extending the life of the U.N. peace force on Cyprus.

The current six-month mandate of the 4,700-man force expires next Tuesday. Unless it is renewed before then, there will be no buffer between the hostile

Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities which nearly brought

Turkey and Greece to war several weeks ago.

White Yuletide Most Unlikely

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —

Chances on whether Ohio will have a white Christmas range from 10 to 1 to 5 to 1, against it, the Weather Bureau reported Wednesday.

If, by chance, any snow is around for the holiday, it more than likely will fall in Northeast Ohio's snowbelt areas —

Cleveland, Canton, Youngstown

and Akron.

The Environment Science Ser-

figures a white Christmas in Ohio's "is going to appear only
